Rio Shift Amended

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — The row over a bit of border land called El Chamizal, "The Thicket," grew from a shift in the channel of the Rio Grande that carried a section of Mexico north of the existing boundary. Saturday, the presidents of the neighbor nations sealed a settlement in which their countries traded several small tracts with a net gain of 437 acres for Mexico.

The actual settlement was reached by the predecessors of Johnson and Diaz Ordaz in 1963 when the late John F. Kennedy and Adolfo Lopez Mateos concluded an agreement.

In the interval, the United States spent millions to move its citizens out of the area that now reverts to Mexico.

The actual restoration of this territory took place at midnight when the iron fence along the old border was snipped with loud jubilation.

The two presidents were not on hand for that.

They flew in from Washington Saturday morning on Johnson's plane, to neighboring El Paso, Tex. Their wives made the trip.

The hours that followed were a time for fiesta, fun, confetti-tossing, music, flag-waving, and ceremony.

Citizens of both El Paso and Juarez turned out by the tens of thousands.

Juarez citizens came in far larger throngs and filled the air with "Vivas," confetti in chunks and the music of marching bands. The two presidents rode side by side in an open car, with their Secret Service agents making little attempt to keep people from rushing into the streets to grasp the hands of the two chief executives.

Thant Doubtful About Proposal For Compromise

UNITED NATIONS N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U. Thant said Saturday he doubted a compromise was possible between two pending proposals for U.N. Security Council action to settle the Middle East question.

"If there is no agreement on any Security Council action I think some members might want to bring it up in the General Assembly, even next week," he told reporters.

Diplomatic sources said the 10 nonpermanent members of the 16-nation council had split over the two rival proposals in their private efforts to draft a resolution the council could adopt next week so as to forestall an assembly debate.

The proposals were presented at a meeting of the 10 members late Friday. They will be discussed further at another such meeting Monday morning.

Thant said: "I think the picture will become clear on Monday."

One of the proposals came from Argentina, Brazil, Ethiopia, India, Mali and Nigeria and the other from Canada and Denmark, meeting with Bulgaria and Japan as the other two nonpermanent members.

Both proposals would have Thant send a special representative to the Middle East to seek a settlement of the Arab-Israeli war of last June 5-10, in which Israel occupied parts of Egypt, Jordan and Syria. Both set forth principles to guide him in doing so.

Reagan Suggests Law Crack Down On Protestors

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan cautiously suggested a national law Saturday cracking down on militant anti-racism, antiwar demonstrators for "giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

Reagan returned to Sacramento on a chartered jet after a Republican fund-raising speaking tour to the Midwest and South. He said he found enthusiasm for the Republican Party, but he again denied that he was a candidate seeking support for the presidency in 1968.

Newsmen who met Reagan at the airport asked him to clarify his criticism of demonstrators voiced on the tour. "There are plenty of laws to cover them if we were technically in a state of war," Reagan said. "Perhaps there would be a possibility of legislation to implement the same rules regarding giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

Reagan added that he wasn't advocating a formal declaration of war in Vietnam.

"We're in combat with an enemy," Reagan said. "Today demonstrators such as the ones in Oakland are actually giving comfort and aid to the enemy."

He said that any new law against demonstrators should leave room for reasonable dissent but "nothing that justified bloodshed, arson, violence, damages to property and harm to individuals."

STILL CELEBRATING SHAH'S CORONATION

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Three days after the coronation of the Shah of Iran, travelers arriving at Tehran airport are still receiving free caviar, as celebrations continue throughout the nation. In addition to attending a banquet with tribal dancers Saturday, the Shah and Empress Farah inspected 351 of the 411 gifts from around the world.

Appeals For Peace End Bishop Synod

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Two meetings momentous in the history of the Roman Catholic church—a synod of bishops and a visit by Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras to Pope Paul VI—concluded Saturday with appeals to the peoples and leaders of the world to work for peace.

The 200 bishops of the synod concluded their month-long meeting with a plea directed to the world's major powers, and with a recommendation to Pope Paul to ease even further the church's restrictions on mixed marriages.

Pope and patriarch issued a joint declaration at the close of their three-day get-together imploring "the authorities of nations and people of the world in the name of God to seek by every means to promote peace and justice in all countries of the world."

In this way the leaders of the world's two largest Christian bodies—the half-billion member Roman Catholic church and the 150-million member Eastern Orthodox—demonstrated common concern for closer ties among all Christians and for the safety of mankind. The synod's peace plea was particularly striking.

It was the only issue outside the formal agenda of internal church problems the bishops brought up in their first-stage experiment in helping the Pope govern the church.

In its reference to major powers the declaration was aimed essentially at the United States and the Soviet Union. The original draft had specifically mentioned nuclear powers but this was watered down to "the most powerful nations."

Clearly alluding to fighting in Vietnam and the Middle East, the bishops declared they could not "conclude our synodal meetings without addressing a message of peace to all men, especially to those who have special responsibility for the fate of nations and to those who have suffered and are still suffering the tragic consequences of war."

To help foster a spirit of peace and closer ties between Catholics and other Christians, the synod advised the Pope to do away with the rule requiring explicit promises from non-Catholic spouses in marriages with Catholics that the children will be raised in the Catholic faith.

Pope Paul had himself ended the requirement of written promises as a major unity gesture in March last year. But his concession was criticized by influential Anglican and Protestant leaders as not going far enough because an oral pledge was still required.

Life Expectancies Lower For Presidents

NEW YORK (AP) — The job of being president of the United States is so tough—most citizens might agree—that it cuts months or years off his life.

It does, longevity statistics show—sharply so as the burden of the office grew after the Civil War. Presidents elected since then have lived shorter lives than those who came before.

Even so, the presidents who died natural deaths lived longer on the average than the men who tried for the office and failed and the men who served as vice president.

Thirty-two presidents—including four who were assassinated—had an average life span of 68.5 years, or 3.6 years less than their life expectancy at inauguration.

Those who died natural deaths lived to an average of 70.7 years, or 1.5 years less than the general American life expectancy at their respective times, according to an analysis released Saturday in the statistical bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

The unsuccessful candidates for the office lived longer on the average than all the presidents, but less than those who died natural deaths. The same is true for the men who served as vice president, except that they lived longer than the unsuccessful candidates.

The statistical bulletin takes into account the life expectancy of the men according to their age at the time of the elections or inaugurations. Life expectancies would vary according to age and time in history.

The presidents who died natural deaths lived about three-tenths of a year longer, on the average, than the 24 deceased vice presidents. Nine men now deceased served in both offices.

Chief executives who died natural deaths also outlived by six-tenths of a year the 40 deceased unsuccessful candidates who received some electoral votes.

The report says a strong case can be made for burdensome effects of the office on the longevity of presidents elected since 1860.

"The presidents since then have on the average been more short-lived than those who preceded Lincoln," the report says.

"The 15 presidents from Washington to Buchanan averaged 74.2 years, or about 1.3 years longer than might have been expected at the time of their inaugurations."

"There were 13 presidents following Lincoln who died natural deaths, and they lived an average of 66.6 years, or almost five years less than expected."

ploring "the authorities of nations and people of the world in the name of God to seek by every means to promote peace and justice in all countries of the world."

THIRTY-TWO PAGES—TEN CENTS

Rio Shift Amended

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Mexico and the United States ended in pageantry and with glowing good will Saturday a dispute that erupted over a bit of border brush country and lasted more than a century.

President Johnson and President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico sat at desks before a monument on Mexican soil commemorating the settlement to sign proclamations which said the structure "will stand forever as a symbol of good will between our two nations—and as a sign to the world of what men can accomplish when they approach their differences in a spirit of compromise and mutual respect."

The actual settlement was reached by the predecessors of Johnson and Diaz Ordaz in 1963 when the late John F. Kennedy and Adolfo Lopez Mateos concluded an agreement.

In the interval, the United States spent millions to move its citizens out of the area that now reverts to Mexico.

The actual restoration of this territory took place at midnight when the iron fence along the old border was snipped with loud jubilation.

The two presidents were not on hand for that.

They flew in from Washington Saturday morning on Johnson's plane, to neighboring El Paso, Tex. Their wives made the trip.

The hours that followed were a time for fiesta, fun, confetti, music, flag-waving, and ceremony.

Citizens of both El Paso and Juarez turned out by the tens of thousands.

Juarez citizens came in far larger throngs and filled the air with "Vivas," confetti in chunks and the music of marching bands.

The two presidents rode side by side in an open car, with their Secret Service agents making little attempt to keep people from rushing into the streets to grasp the hands of the two chief executives.

Thant Doubtful About Proposal For Compromise

UNITED NATIONS N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant said Saturday he doubted a compromise was possible between two pending proposals for U.N. Security Council action to settle the Middle East question.

"If there is no agreement on any Security Council action I think some members might want to bring it up in the General Assembly, even next week," he told reporters.

Diplomatic sources said the 10 nonpermanent members of the 16-nation council had split over the two rival proposals in their private efforts to draft a resolution the council could adopt next week so as to forestall an assembly debate.

The proposals were presented at a meeting of the 10 members late Friday. They will be discussed further at another such meeting Monday morning.

Thant said: "I think the picture will become clear on Monday."

One of the proposals came from Argentina, Brazil, Ethiopia, India, Mali and Nigeria and the other from Canada and Denmark, meeting with Bulgaria and Japan as the other two non-permanent members.

Both proposals would have Thant send a special representative to the Middle East to seek a settlement of the Arab-Israeli war of last June 5-10, in which Israel occupied parts of Egypt, Jordan and Syria. Both set forth principles to guide him in doing so.

Reagan suggested a national law Saturday cracking down on militant antidraft, antiwar demonstrators for "giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

Reagan returned to Sacramento on a chartered jet after a Republican fund-raising speaking tour to the Midwest and South. He said he found enthusiasm for the Republican Party, but he again denied that he was a candidate seeking support for the presidency in 1968.

Newsman who met Reagan at the airport asked him to clarify his criticism of demonstrators voiced on the tour. "There are plenty of laws to cover them if we were technically in a state of war," Reagan said. "Perhaps there would be a possibility of legislation to implement the same rules regarding giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

Reagan added that he wasn't advocating a formal declaration of war in Vietnam.

"We're in combat with an enemy," Reagan said. "Today demonstrators such as the ones in Oakland are actually giving comfort and aid to the enemy."

He said that any new law against demonstrators should leave room for reasonable dissent but "nothing that justified bloodshed, arson, violence, damages to property and harm to individuals."

Appeals For Peace End Bishop Synod

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Two meetings momentous in the history of the Roman Catholic church—a synod of bishops and a visit by Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras to Pope Paul VI—ended Saturday with appeals to the peoples and leaders of the world to work for peace.

The 200 bishops of the synod concluded their month-long meeting with a plea directed to the world's major powers, and with a recommendation to Pope Paul to ease even further the church's restrictions on mixed marriages.

Pope and patriarch issued a joint declaration at the close of their three-day get-together exploring "the authorities of nations and people of the world in the name of God to seek by every means to promote peace and justice in all countries of the world."

In this way the leaders of the world's two largest Christian bodies—the half-billion member Roman Catholic church and the 150-million member Eastern Orthodox—demonstrated common concern for closer ties among all Christians and for the safety of mankind. The synod's peace plea was particularly striking.

It was the only issue outside the formal agenda of internal church problems the bishops brought up in their first-stage experiment in helping the Pope govern the church.

In its reference to major powers the declaration was aimed essentially at the United States and the Soviet Union. The original draft had specifically mentioned nuclear powers but this was watered down to "the most powerful nations."

Clearly alluding to fighting in Vietnam and the Middle East, the bishops declared they could not "conclude our synodal meetings without addressing a message of peace to all men, especially to those who have special responsibility for the fate of nations and to those who have suffered and are still suffering the tragic consequences of war."

To help foster a spirit of peace and closer ties between Catholics and other Christians, the synod advised the Pope to do away with the rule requiring explicit promises from non-Catholic spouses in marriages with Catholics that the children will be raised in the Catholic faith.

Pope Paul had himself ended the requirement of written promises as a major unity gesture in March last year. But his concession was criticized by influential Anglican and Protestant leaders as not going far enough because an oral pledge was still required.

Life Expectancies Lower For Presidents

NEW YORK (AP) — The job of being president of the United States is so tough—most citizens might agree—that it cuts months or years off his life.

It does, longevity statistics show—sharply so as the burden of the office grew after the Civil War. Presidents elected since then have lived shorter lives than those who came before.

Even so, the presidents who died natural deaths lived longer on the average than the men who tried for the office and failed and the men who served as vice president.

Thirty-two presidents—including four who were assassinated—had an average life span of 68.5 years, or 3.6 years less than their life expectancy at inauguration.

Those who died natural deaths lived to an average of 70.7 years, or 1.5 years less than the general American life expectancy at their respective times, according to an analysis released Saturday in the statistical bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

The unsuccessful candidates for the office lived longer on the average than all the presidents, but less than those who died natural deaths. The same is true for the men who served as vice president, except that they lived longer than the unsuccessful candidates.

Bridges Targets In U.S. Strikes

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. jets attacked the Hanoi area for the fifth successive day Saturday. The major targets were the two biggest bridges of North Vietnam's capital city. Air Force pilots bombed the rail and highway bridge crossing the Canal des Rapides five miles northeast of the center of Hanoi and Marine planes bombed the mile-long Paul Doumer bridge 1.7 miles from Hanoi's center.

The U. S. Command made no mention of American planes downed in the raids at Hanoi or in other strikes near the port city of Haiphong.

The North Vietnamese News Agency claimed five American planes were shot down in the Hanoi raids and one more at Haiphong. In addition, the North Vietnamese said they shot down a U. S. helicopter just above the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam says the intense American air campaign is intended to "destroy everything and exterminate everybody" in his country.

In South Vietnam, a major ground action was reported building up Sunday at Loc Ninh near the Cambodian border and 70 miles north of Saigon. A large Communist force attacked Vietnamese regional and militia units and reinforcements were rushed in by the U. S. 1st Infantry Division.

Initial reports were inconclusive, but they told of heavy fighting. It is the same area where outnumbered South Vietnamese troops hurled back three suicidal charges by a Communist regiment Friday and killed 134 of the enemy.

Battle operations in South Vietnam's hard-pressed 1st Corps Area shared attention with the air war as the Communist station broadcast a declaration that five American planes were shot down over the capital and some of the pilots were captured.

The U. S. Command announced troops of the 1st Air Cavalry and Americal Divisions killed 131 North Vietnamese regulars at a cost of 19 dead and 75 wounded in a series of fights Friday in the Tam Ky and Hoi An sectors south of Da Nang.

Farther north, Communist gunners fired about 170 shells at Con Thien and other forward Marine outposts below the demilitarized zone, killing seven Marines and wounding 41.

The rate of Communist fire was considerably above the recent level of a few dozen rounds daily, though Marine fighter-bombers hammered at enemy fortifications and bunkers just north of the DMZ. Pilots said they destroyed or damaged 46 of these installations.

SAIGON (AP) — The official name watching Thieu, who heads the current military regime as chief of state, in reflecting that elections and constitutions do not always mean acceptable government.

Few presidents have ever faced the skeptical population that Thieu must now contend within a democratic manner—or let the nation again lapse into political chaos.

His election in September with only one third of the votes against a field of 10 civilian candidates put him on shaky ground. The vocal charges of fraud by some defeated candidates didn't help.

To succeed, he must convince a significant following, or at least begin to convince them, that he has genuinely become a civilian, that he will work constitutionally and will meaningfully attack the nation's social ills, rampant official thievery and straggling bureaucracy.

Toward this end Thieu has already promised to name a civilian premier. He will also limit the soldiers to three cabinet posts in military fields.

In the background, for the moment, is his offer of a peace meeting with North Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh and a bombing pause of the North if the Reds "displayed similar good will."

Having made the gesture to soothe the doves in South Vietnam, Thieu now appears willing to leave peace overtures for a while to President Johnson.

Any renewed peace moves, if serious, might also flush into the open the few thinly disguised doves elected to the new House and Senate. Neither Thieu nor the doves seem yet ready for that clash.

Nicaragua Offers Military Support To S. Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. authorities looked with favor Saturday on a Nicaraguan offer to send a small military detachment to South Vietnam to help train troops.

A unit of about a dozen Nicaraguan military personnel, mainly officers, is understood to be under consideration for the Vietnam assignment. Its likeliest role: instruction in counter-insurgency work.

The offer from President Anastasio Somoza's government does not envisage sending Nicaraguan forces into combat, joining the United States and six Asian allies on the Vietnam battlefield.

Thus Nicaragua's participation would fall more under the heading of free-world assistance to Saigon in which some 31 nations, including nine Latin American states, have made contributions ranging from food to antiguerrilla training.

A State Department spokesman indicated that talks are underway between Saigon, Managua and Washington on how best to implement Somoza's desire to join the Vietnam contribution list.

No Latin American country has offered so far to send troops into combat in Vietnam.

Nov. Elections Promise Mood

WASHINGTON (AP) — The scattered elections on Nov. 7 will take only a fraction of U.S. voters to the polls but promise a significant sampling of moods and attitudes just a year before the 1968 presidential election.

Wrapped into the contests are such potent questions for 1968 as the reaction of white voters to last summer's riots and racial disorders and the extent to which Negroes are ready to exercise their potential ballot box power.

There will be tests too of feelings about the Vietnam war and of shifts of political sentiment in the South and in large cities long Democratic strongholds.

Numerous cities choose mayors and two large ones — Cleveland, Ohio, and Gary, Ind. — have Negro candidates for the office.

Kentucky and Mississippi elect governors. Negroes may have the balance of power in Kentucky. In traditionally Democratic Mississippi, a Republican is making a hard run for the office and espousing the doctrine that the well be white and Negro Mississippians is inextricably bound together.

In San Francisco, the voters will ballot on the question: "Shall the United States withdraw from Vietnam?"

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is asking referendum approval of a $2.5-billion bond issue for improvement of transportation. The outcome will be assessed in the light of a feeling among some in Congress that the American people want a slowdown in spending at all government levels.

Carl B. Stokes, a Negro and a member of the legislature, won the Democratic nomination for mayor of Cleveland in an Oct. 3 primary, beating Mayor Ralph Locher.

His Republican opponent for leadership of the nation's 8th largest city is Seth Taft, a son of Charles P. Taft, one-time mayor of Cincinnati, and a grandson of President William Howard Taft. Taft was unopposed in the primary.

In Gary, Ind., Negro Richard D. Hatcher similarly beat the incumbent mayor to win the Democratic nomination in the May primary. Hatcher has been on the City Council for four years.

His Republican opponent is Joseph B. Radigan, a furniture store owner who has never before run for public office.

Kenya, Somalia Agree To End Border Conflict

ARUSHA, Tanzania (AP) — Kenya and Somalia reached an agreement Saturday aimed at ending their four-year border war in which nearly 3,000 have died.

Kenyatta lifted Egal's hand above his head like a triumphant boxer for the benefit of photographers.

Kenya and Somalia agreed to end destruction of human life and property, to halt hostile propaganda, suspend emergency regulations imposed by both sides because of the border dispute and to begin moves toward establishment of diplomatic relations between.

12-Month Session For Congress?

By their own rules, the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives must adjourn by July 31st each year, except in time of war or national emergency.

But what Congress proposes it can easily dispose of by passing a resolution extending a session, which it has done as a matter of course for, lo, these many years.

Law also requires that appropriation bills be completed by July 1, the beginning of the fiscal year.

More than three months after the deadline, the present Congress has acted on only a handful of them. Many agencies and departments are struggling along on the basis of continuing resolutions, which authorize them to operate from month to month on stop-gap funds provided on the same level as their spending during the previous year.

Older solons have fond memories of inter-session vacations of four to six months, when a lot of fences could be mended back home. The present Congress has been in session for nine months, and if this were an election year, it would certainly be under attack as the "Do-Nothing Congress of 1967."

Of course, if this were an election year, that ranting you would have heard about Labor Day would have been congressmen stirring their legislative bones like mad.

Since in these hectic times there is no likelihood of a return to the leisurely ways of the past, why don't congressmen face reality and plan on regular 12-month sessions, with perhaps a modest adjournment in the summer?

Secret Book Subsidies

Suppose this hypothetical question were posed for debate: Resolved, that no agency of the federal government shall subsidize publication of books for sale in the United States unless such volumes clearly indicate the source and nature of this support. What American alert to the dangers in secret government propaganda would argue any but the affirmative side of that question?

The question, unfortunately, is not hypothetical. Some months ago it was disclosed that the United States Information Agency, whose efforts supposedly are restricted to overseas distribution, had nevertheless been secretly helping publishers to print certain books sold in this country as well as abroad. Now it appears that, though this revelation moved some members of Congress to shocked comment, the practice has not been abandoned.

This is the conclusion drawn in a New Republic article by David Wise, who was chief of the now defunct New York Herald Tribune's Washington Bureau. He reports that USIA Director

A number of them think it may be a good idea. Among them is Rep. George E. Brown Jr., Democrat of California.

He points out that paperwork continues in a congressman's office the year around, anyway, whether Congress is in session or not. Even when Congressmen take time off to rub elbows with — and have arms twisted by — the folks back home, the legislative process plods along at a fairly steady pace.

There is no reason why all legislation must either be rammed through in the early months of the year, he says, or, as it usually turns out, be hastily passed in the last ones. A slower pace could be conducive to more deliberative and higher quality legislation.

He adds that a longer session should mean better scheduling so that legislation involving a time factor could be enacted at an appropriate time. Unfortunately, this has not been the case.

The stopgap method of funding may be all right for an established bureaucracy that is conducting business as usual, "but it creates untold misery on programs such as our aid to education, antipoverty efforts and the like."

Not knowing whether they are going to get more, less or the same money as the year before, administrators are reduced to guesswork and hope in their planning.

"One would think," says Brown, "that with year-round sessions, Congress could solve some of these problems."

Or perhaps one may not think so. But year-round sessions would at least save Congress the trouble of having to pass an extension resolution every July.

Direct From Pentagon Files

True Viet Casualty Figures

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Though the Defense Department's casualty figures are highly misleading, unpublished data stashed away in Pentagon files gives a fairly accurate picture of the cost of the Vietnam war in lives and injuries.

The picture that data gives is much different from the "100,00-plus casualties" widely reported.

Of the 102,000 casualties due to enemy action up to Oct. 7, 1967, slightly more than 77,000 have returned to action. An estimated 6,000 to 7,000 more will return to action. About 17,000 to 18,000 of the 102,000 were disabled or killed and slightly less than 800 missing or captured.

The figures are even more interesting when broken down in greater detail.

Of the 102,000 casualties due to enemy action to date:

- 13,736 were killed, or died of wounds or died while missing or after being captured.
- An estimated 3,000 to 4,000 have been or will be discharged as disabled.
- Some 570 are missing and 212 captured.
- 24,000 "casualties" were never off duty; that is, they were outpatients.
- An estimated 17,500 were off duty for a night or a day or two.
- Approximately 22,000 other men were or will be off duty for less than 30 days.
- Roughly 14,000 more were or will be off duty for less than 66 days.
- An estimated 6,000 to 7,000 additional have been or will be off duty for more than two months.

There is also data in the files on the type of wounds the American soldier is suffering in Vietnam.

- Thirty-nine per cent of those GIs hospitalized suffer from wounds in the legs, thighs or feet (the lower extremities), 22 per cent in the upper extremities, 12 per cent in the head and neck, 7 per cent in the abdomen and 7 per cent in the thorax. Almost 13 per cent are "multiple wounds" and miscellaneous.
- Almost 62 per cent of the combat deaths, where known, have been from small arms. Slightly over 29 per cent of the deaths were from grenade, mortar and other fragments, 9 per cent from booby traps and mines.
- The figures are quite different for nonfatal wounds. More than 54 per cent have been from bullets, 20 per cent from booby traps, mines and punji stakes. (The stakes alone accounted for 8 per cent of all nonfatal wounds.) Small arms fire was responsible for a quarter of the wounds that didn't result in death.

In Vietnam from July 1965 through May 1967 deaths due to combat were 20 per thousand average troop strength per year, as compared to a rate of 43 for Korea and 52 for the European Theater of Operations from June 1944 through May 1945.

Using the same base period in Vietnam, U.S. Army troops with nonfatal wounds were admitted to medical facilities at the rate of 86 per thousand average strength per year. In Korea, the rate was 121 and in the European Theater of Operations from D-Day to V-E Day it was 152.

In Korea and in World War II, the number of soldiers with major amputations resulting from wounds who were admitted to amputation centers in this country represented between 2 and 2½ per cent of the total hospitalized wounded. Thus far for Vietnam the figure has been around 1 per cent.

Ann Landers:

Lauds Teen Willingness to Help

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: So many things appear in the newspapers these days to put teen-agers down. I wish you would print my letter because it proves there are still plenty of great kids in this country. Too bad we don't hear more about the good teen-agers instead of the hippies and the goof-offs.

My husband is scheduled for open heart surgery next week. The doctor told us he must have at least 22 blood donors. Word got around the plant where he works and several of his fellow employees signed up. Then the kids in the neighborhood heard about it. More than a dozen teen-agers (some didn't even know us) volunteered to give blood. They were disappointed when they learned a blood donor must be 18 years of age and he must get his parents' consent. Every one of those kids was ready to go over to the hospital and give his blood that very day. I think this speaks very well for our teen-agers and I would like to give them the praise they deserve. Will you help? — A GRATEFUL WIFE

Dear Wife: With pleasure. Here's your letter, but I didn't need it as evidence that there are still plenty of good teen-agers around. I've known it for a long time.

Dear Ann Landers: I feel guilty knowing what I do and remaining silent. Please help me.

A friend of mine who is in her middle 30's has her mother living with her. The old woman is past 70, searle and she does not hear well. I have seen some terrible bruises on the old woman's face and arms and I have a strong suspicion that her daughter has struck her on several occasions. This friend has always been a peculiar person and I have seen evidences of her violent temper.

I am acquainted with the neighbors who live upstairs over the woman and her daughter and they have told me they have heard some blood-chilling screams from down there, and they have suspected for a long time that something awful is going on. What should be done? — XXL

Dear XXL: The neighbors should call the police the next time they hear screams and then they should be willing to participate in legal action. If they are unwilling to do so, ask them to call YOU — then you should call the police and go over to that house and do your duty.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 15-year-old girl with a 5-year-old problem. That's how long it has been going on. I am about to flip. Our next door neighbor has a daughter who is three years older than I am. Ever since I was 10 this woman has been saving her daughter's outgrown clothes for me.

I think this is very kind of her but (1) We are not THAT hard up and (2) Styles do change and I look like something left over from another century in those old-fashioned dresses.

My mother says the woman's feelings will be hurt if I refuse her daughter's dresses, but I think my feelings ought to count for something, too. Don't you? Thanks for any help you can give me in my fight to look normal. — RAGSVILLE

Dear Ragsville: Since you do not need the dresses, it would be an act of generosity to tell the neighbor that you feel selfish in accepting them. Suggest that she call Goodwill Industries or a local orphanage.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

REPUBLICANS who put out the GOP Congressional Committee Newsletter here were at it again. Only this trip the barbs aimed at President Johnson and his administration may have crossed the line into bad taste. Some of them:

"The Democratic convention will be in Chicago, we understand. Let's face it, the last two administrations owe Cook County something."

"The Democrats want to impose a loyalty pledge on their delegates. All right now, repeat slowly after John Bailey (party chairman) — 'I pledge allegiance to LBJ, and to the party which serves him, one machine, indispensable, with government jobs and spoils for all.'"

"We see where Lynda Bird has invited George Hamilton to Washington for her wedding. Now maybe he'll get a chance to meet Gen. Hershey (Selective Service head)."

PIERRE SALINGER, ex-senator and ex - press aide to President Kennedy, has been trying to get his book, "With Kennedy," made into a movie. No soap. Word is Hollywood can't find anyone the public will accept as Kennedy and the "stars" are reluctant to try.

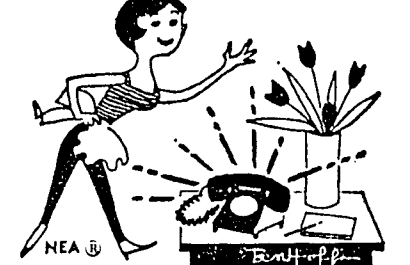

As a result, sources now say it is quite likely that the book will be sold to television — maybe for a documentary or a series. No word as to when.

Some months ago it was disclosed that the United States Information Agency, whose efforts supposedly are restricted to overseas distribution, had nevertheless been secretly helping publishers to print certain books sold in this country as well as abroad. Now it appears that, though this revelation moved some members of Congress to shocked comment, the practice has not been abandoned.

This is the conclusion drawn in a New Republic article by David Wise, who was chief of the now defunct New York Herald Tribune's Washington Bureau. He reports that USIA Director

A number of them think it may be a good idea. Among them is Rep. George E. Brown Jr., Democrat of California.

He points out that paperwork continues in a congressman's office the year around, anyway, whether Congress is in session or not. Even when Congressmen take time off to rub elbows with — and have arms twisted by — the folks back home, the legislative process plods along at a fairly steady pace.

There is no reason why all legislation must either be rammed through in the early months of the year, he says, or, as it usually turns out, be hastily passed in the last ones. A slower pace could be conducive to more deliberative and higher quality legislation.

He adds that a longer session should mean better scheduling so that legislation involving a time factor could be enacted at an appropriate time. Unfortunately, this has not been the case.

The stopgap method of funding may be all right for an established bureaucracy that is conducting business as usual, "but it creates untold misery on programs such as our aid to education, antipoverty efforts and the like."

Not knowing whether they are going to get more, less or the same money as the year before, administrators are reduced to guesswork and hope in their planning.

"One would think," says Brown, "that with year-round sessions, Congress could solve some of these problems."

Or perhaps one may not think so. But year-round sessions would at least save Congress the trouble of having to pass an extension resolution every July.

Candidate With 43 Friends Can't Be Too Careful

By DAVE BURGIN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Rep. G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery, D-Miss., tells a story to illustrate how tough things can be in infamous Neshoba County. It's about a political candidate who ran and got licked and then put this ad in a local paper —

"I lost several weeks canvassing. I lost several acres of corn and potatoes. I gave away two calves and five goats for barbecue."

"I gave away five pairs of suspenders, six ladies' dresses and 15 baby rattles. For prospective voters I plowed 173 acres and spread 63 loads of barnyard fertilizer. I drew 25 buckets of water, put up 14 kitchen stoves, kindled 17 fires and kissed 115 babies."

"I walked 6,481 miles, shook 9,847 hands, talked enough to make several volumes. I lost two front teeth and some hair in a personal encounter with a supporter of my opponent. I attended 26 revival meetings, made love to nine grass widows, and got dog bit 39 times and FOLKS, I STILL GOT DEFEATED."

"I want to thank my 43 FRIENDS — and they are my friends — for casting their votes for me, and the rest of Neshoba County. I warn you that I am now going armed with a sawed-off shotgun because a man who doesn't have any more than 43 friends in a county as big as Neshoba is definitely in need of protection."

REPUBLICANS who put out the GOP Congressional Committee Newsletter here were at it again. Only this trip the barbs aimed at President Johnson and his administration may have crossed the line into bad taste. Some of them:

"The Democratic convention will be in Chicago, we understand. Let's face it, the last two administrations owe Cook County something."

"The Democrats want to impose a loyalty pledge on their delegates. All right now, repeat slowly after John Bailey (party chairman) — 'I pledge allegiance to LBJ, and to the party which serves him, one machine, indispensable, with government jobs and spoils for all.'"

"We see where Lynda Bird has invited George Hamilton to Washington for her wedding. Now maybe he'll get a chance to meet Gen. Hershey (Selective Service head)."

PIERRE SALINGER, ex-senator and ex - press aide to President Kennedy, has been trying to get his book, "With Kennedy," made into a movie. No soap. Word is Hollywood can't find anyone the public will accept as Kennedy and the "stars" are reluctant to try.

As a result, sources now say it is quite likely that the book will be sold to television — maybe for a documentary or a series. No word as to when.

The World Almanac reports that there is increasing evidence supporting the continental drift theory, which holds that Africa and South America were a connected continent that split apart 200 million years ago. Both continents possess common fossils and complementary shapes, and recent research reveals that their Atlantic coastal rock formations are of the same composition and age.

Direct From Pentagon Files

True Viet Casualty Figures

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Though the Defense Department's casualty figures are highly misleading, unpublished data stashed away in Pentagon files gives a fairly accurate picture of the cost of the Vietnam war in lives and injuries.

The picture that data gives is much different from the "100,000-plus casualties" widely reported.

Of the 102,000 casualties due to enemy action up to Oct. 7, 1967, slightly more than 77,000 have returned to action. An estimated 6,000 to 7,000 more will return to action. About 17,000 to 18,000 of the 102,000 were disabled or killed and slightly less than 800 missing or captured.

The figures are even more interesting when broken down in greater detail.

Of the 102,000 casualties due to enemy action to date:

— 13,736 were killed, or died of wounds or died while missing or after being captured.

— An estimated 3,000 to 4,000 have been or will be discharged as disabled.

— Some 570 are missing and 212 captured.

— 24,000 "casualties" were never off duty; that is, they were outpatients.

— An estimated 17,500 were off duty for a night or a day or two.

— Approximately 22,000 other men were or will be off duty for less than 30 days.

— Roughly 14,000 more were or will be off duty for less than 66 days.

— An estimated 6,000 to 7,000 additional have been or will be off duty for more than two months.

There is also data in the files on the type of wounds the American soldier is suffering in Vietnam.

Thirty-nine per cent of those GIs hospitalized suffer from wounds in the legs, thighs or feet (the lower extremities), 22 per cent in the upper extremities, 12 per cent in the head and neck, 7 per cent in the abdomen and 7 per cent in the thorax. Almost 13 per cent are "multiple wounds" and miscellaneous.

Almost 62 per cent of the combat deaths, where known, have been from small arms. Slightly over 29 per cent of the deaths were from grenade, mortar and other fragments, 9 per cent from booby traps and mines.

The figures are quite different for nonfatal wounds. More than 54 per cent have been from bludgeonings, 20 per cent from booby traps, mines and punji stakes. (The stakes alone accounted for 8 per cent of all nonfatal wounds.) Small arms fire was responsible for a quarter of the wounds that didn't result in death.

In Vietnam from July 1965 through May 1967 deaths due to combat were 20 per thousand average troop strength per year, as compared to a rate of 43 for Korea and 52 for the European Theater of Operations from June 1944 through May 1945.

Using the same base period in Vietnam, U.S. Army troops with nonfatal wounds were admitted to medical facilities at the rate of 86 per thousand average strength per year. In Korea, the rate was 121 and in the European Theater of Operations from D-Day to V-E Day it was 152.

In Korea and in World War II, the number of soldiers with major amputations resulting from wounds who were admitted to amputation centers in this country represented between 2 and 2½ per cent of the total hospitalized wounded. Thus far for Vietnam the figure has been around 1 per cent.

Ann Landers:

Lauds Teen Willingness to Help

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: So many things appear in the newspapers these days to put teen-agers down. I wish you would print my letter because it proves there are still plenty of great kids in this country. Too bad we don't hear more about the good teen-agers instead of the hippies and the goof-offs.

My husband is scheduled for open heart surgery next week. The doctor told us he must have at least 22 blood donors. Word got around the plant where he works and several of his fellow employees signed up. Then the kids in the neighborhood heard about it. More than a dozen teen-agers (some didn't even know us) volunteered to give blood. They were disappointed when they learned a blood donor must be 18 years of age and he must get his parents' consent. Every one of those kids was ready to go over to the hospital and give his blood that very day.

I think this speaks very well for our teen-agers and I would like to give them the praise they deserve. Will you help? — A GRATEFUL WIFE

Dear Wife: With pleasure. Here's your letter, but I didn't need it as evidence that there are still plenty of good teen-agers around. I've known it for a long time.

Dear Ann Landers: I feel guilty knowing what I do and remaining silent. Please help me.

A friend of mine who is in her middle 30's has her mother living with her. The old woman is past 70, senile and she does not hear well. I have seen some terrible bruises on the old woman's face and arms and I have a strong suspicion that her daughter has struck her on several occasions. This friend has always been a peculiar person and I have seen evidences of her violent temper.

I am acquainted with the neighbors who live upstairs over the woman and her daughter and they have told me they have heard some blood-chilling screams from down there, and they have suspected for a long time that something awful is going on. What should be done? — XXL

Dear XXL: The neighbors should call the police the next time they hear screams and then they should be willing to participate in legal action. If they are unwilling to do so, ask them to call YOU — then you should call the police and go over to that house and do your duty.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 15-year-old girl with a 5-year-old problem. That's how long it has been going on. I am about to flip. Our next door neighbor has a daughter who is three years older than I am. Ever since I was 10 this woman has been saving her daughter's outgrown clothes for me.

I think this is very kind of her but (1) We are not THAT hard up and (2) Styles do change and I look like something left over from another century in those old-fashioned dresses.

My mother says the woman's feelings will be hurt if I refuse her daughter's dresses, but I think my feelings ought to count for something, too. Don't you? Thanks for any help you can give me in my fight to look normal. — RAGSVILLE

Dear Ragsville: Since you do not need the dresses, it would be an act of generosity to tell the neighbor that you feel selfish in accepting them. Suggest that she call Goodwill Industries or a local orphanage.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Saturday — It's 4-H Achievement Day

Again the merchants of Jacksonville, for the 23rd time, will salute the 4-H boys and girls, their leaders, and the extension service that makes this youth program flourish.

Saturday will be 4-H Achievement Day in Jacksonville.

The youths from all sections of Morgan county will come in to learn how they did in the work of the previous year, applaud the winners, and it is historically correct to say that many of the younger ones will steel their muscles and say to themselves: This year I'm going to do better.

The program will begin at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, although the doors of the Times theater will open a half hour earlier for registration of 4-H members and club leaders.

O. L. Westmorlan of the Mac's Clothes Shop, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce 4-H committee, will preside again this year.

In the opening 4-H ceremony flag bearers will be Tom Patterson of the North Side Seniors and Ed Becker of the East Side Juniors. The pledge to the God, Flag and Country will be led by Mike Kershaw of the North Side Seniors and Jalane Mawson of the Domestic Dandies.

Walter Gilmore of the C. of C. will welcome the club members. Laura Bowe of the Peppy Peppers will respond. Jim Burrus, president of the Morgan County 4-H Federation, will narrate the story of 4-H in Morgan county during the past year as a group of colored slides are projected on the screen.

The winners of national and state awards will be announced by Bob Darley and Mrs. James Swain, who head the Extension committees devoted to 4-H work. A wide array of prizes, including U.S. savings bonds, will again be presented to the winners of the various goals set by the Morgan County 4-H program.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

By STELLA

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 29 — Born today, you have been gifted with a sharp and ready wit, a knack for interesting conversation, and an ability to persuade that far exceeds the normal. Your ability to handle an audience, to turn them en masse to your way of thinking, should make you very useful to any organization that depends upon approval from the public for success. Only take care to realize your responsibilities along these lines; your abilities should be used only for good.

Yours is basically a contradictory nature and because of this other people sometimes find you difficult to know. This applies only to your casual relationships, however; when it comes to vital relationships you are able to forget yourself and your own doubts concerning what you really want out of life.

Because you are one who can keep a confidence, you are also one who will be trusted with other people's secrets. You have the endearing quality of seeming to take others' problems off their shoulders merely by providing your own for them to cry on and your ear for them to pour their troubles into. The fact that it is mostly a matter of appearances has no bearing on the good you accomplish this way.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, October 30
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) — The more practical you are today in your search for a solution to your problems, the sooner you will know success. Stop dreaming.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Decisions that involve others should not be kept to yourself. Let family members know just what you expect of them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — To be overconfident today may prove disappointing tomorrow. Go after no more than you need.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Important contacts can be made this morning if you're careful to see that you're in the right place at the right time.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 21) — Do your reasoning before you come to any conclusions regarding the present project, not afterwards. A day for doing it right the first time.

ARIES (Mar. 22-Apr. 20) — Solutions to present problems must be practical to be effective. Don't try to get a man's work out of a boy.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21) — Opportunities abound, and if you make the most of each of them you should know real success by evening.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) —

Much depends upon the way in which you present your views. You may have the best ideas — but the prize goes to him who best gets them across.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — The outlook at work is considerably improved. All you have to do is take advantage of an opportunity to succeed.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Take a tip from the tortoise. It is the slow and steady Leo who will carry home the honors this evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Don't let up in your efforts to accomplish your goal sooner than necessary. A good day for entering new fields.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — You can make good use of contacts recently made. Those who have been especially friendly may not be your best bet, however.

The Halibut That Isn't

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Nutrition Editor
Q — What is Greenland halibut? I thought halibut comes from the West Coast.
A — True halibut does come from the West Coast. But a product known as "Greenland" halibut is being confused by some shoppers as true halibut, according to the Interior Department's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.
Greenland halibut, caught in the North Atlantic, is an entirely different species. It is smaller and generally different in taste and texture from true halibut. Its oil content is much higher, and protein content lower than the true Pacific halibut.

"Although Greenland halibut is a good food on its own merits, the uninformed consumer might be unprepared for the difference in flavor and texture," the department said.
Q — Somebody told me peanuts are getting scarce. Can that be true?
A — No. This looks like the year of the peanut. Production is estimated at 2,543 million pounds, nearly 30 per cent more than average and 5 per cent more than last year's crop.

A blue whale may be 26 feet long at birth.

By STELLA
SUNDAY, OCTOBER 29 — Born today, you have been gifted with a sharp and ready wit, a knack for interesting conversation, and an ability to persuade that far exceeds the normal. Your ability to handle an audience, to turn them en masse to your way of thinking, should make you very useful to any organization that depends upon approval from the public for success. Only take care to realize your responsibilities along these lines; your abilities should be used only for good.

Yours is basically a contradictory nature and because of this other people sometimes find you difficult to know. This applies only to your casual relationships, however; when it comes to vital relationships you are able to forget yourself and your own doubts concerning what you really want out of life.

Because you are one who can keep a confidence, you are also one who will be trusted with other people's secrets. You have the endearing quality of seeming to take others' problems off their shoulders merely by providing your own for them to cry on and your ear for them to pour their troubles into. The fact that it is mostly a matter of appearances has no bearing on the good you accomplish this way.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, October 30
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) — The more practical you are today in your search for a solution to your problems, the sooner you will know success. Stop dreaming.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Decisions that involve others should not be kept to yourself. Let family members know just what you expect of them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — To be overconfident today may be to make a decision that will prove disappointing tomorrow. Go after no more than you need.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Important contacts can be made this morning if you're careful to see that you're in the right place at the right time.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 21) — Do your reasoning before you come to any conclusions regarding the present project, not afterwards. A day for doing it right the first time.

ARIES (Mar. 22-Apr. 20) — Solutions to present problems must be practical to be effective. Don't try to get a man's work out of a boy.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21) — Opportunities abound, and if you make the most of each of them you should know real success by evening.

OSCO DRUG

MONSTER BROWNIE is actually the most sensitive and precise tracking instrument in the North American Air Defense Command's satellite detection network. The huge Baker-Nunn camera, located at Cold Lake, Alberta, and operated by the Canadian Armed Forces Air Defense Command, can photograph light reflected from an object the size of a basketball at a distance of 25,000 miles. By correlating the photos with known star backgrounds, a satellite's position can be determined with great precision.

The Mature Parent

Dads, Put Gals Straight on Femininity vs. Concern

By MURIEL LAWRENCE |him?" I asked. She was 16 — and her date! She gave me an impatient look. "Oh, about a year." "How much do you like him?" "Stony-faced, she said to me. I asked. "I've had it. He'll never get a 'A lot," she said. "But this chance to do that to me again!" tears it. I'm through. "How long have you known?" "Everybody who stands up up," I said. "doesn't do it to insult us. Personal emergencies can crop up that make it impossible to keep dates with us or even phone us. So, if you like this boy so much, why don't you phone him to see if he's all right?"

You would have thought I had suggested that she defect to Red China. She wanted to hit me. She didn't, of course. Instead, she yelled at me. "I am a feminine girl!" she yelled. "I have never phoned a boy in my life and I never will! No boy is ever going to think of me as a chaser! No matter how much I think of him, I'd die before I'd call a boy who had stood me up!"

Do all you feminine girls feel like that? Because, if you do, you'd better ask your fathers to define the difference for you between chasing men and concern for men. Better still, you might ask the boy friends themselves if they regard any interest in their welfare as unfeminine.

For that so feminine girl lost her boy friend. By the time she discovered that his father had dropped dead of a heart attack the night of their date, he wanted neither her concern nor her sympathy. She talked and talked about how sorry she was that she had misjudged him. But he didn't really hear her. He didn't believe her.

All that was in her was. "What do you think about ME?" I'm writing this column because I know how you girls suffer from this notion that any expression of concern for a boy's well-being is unfeminine. It's the worse - than - death of your generation. So please talk to your fathers about it. I hope to goodness they'll tell you that you're well rid of any boy friend who's so conceited that he obliged to translate "Are you all right?" into "Let's get married."

Special Recognition For MacMurray

Burglars Hit 2
Prentice Firms
Thursday Night

Burglars broke into two Prentice business firms Thursday night and made off with approximately $190 and an undetermined amount of checks, according to Sheriff Dean Colwell.

The sheriff and Chief Investigator Bob Ruble said that sometime during the night burglars entered the Wyant Implement Company at the south edge of Prentice and took $80 in bills and between $13 and $14 in change from the safe.

The safe at Frank Hodge's welding shop, located south of the implement company, was also broken into and $100 in bills taken.

Colwell said that a back door at the implement company was forced open for entry to the building and that the door to the safe had been beaten open.

A door on the north side of the welding shop was forced for entry into that building, and a similar procedure was used to open the safe.

Colwell said that an undetermined amount of checks had been taken from the implement company safe.

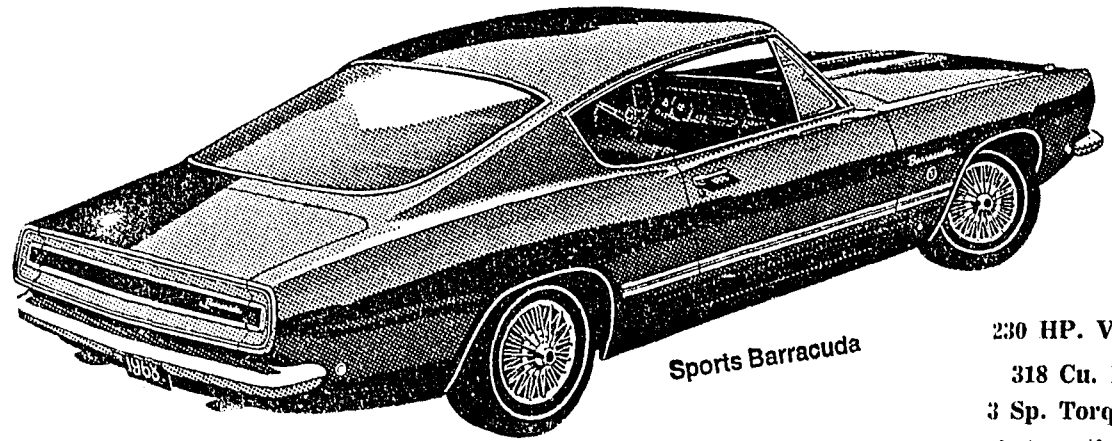

Sheriff's headquarters was notified of the incidents about 8:10 a.m. Friday and immediately dispatched deputies to the scene to begin a check for clues.

CRICKET'S CHIRP

Burglars Hit 2 Prentice Firms Thursday Night

Burglars broke into two Prentice business firms Thursday night and made off with approximately $190 and an undetermined amount of checks, according to Sheriff Dean Colwell.

The sheriff and Chief Investigator Bob Ruble said that sometime during the night burglars entered the Wyant Implement Company at the south edge of Prentice and took $80 in bills and between $13 and $14 in change from the safe.

The safe at Frank Hodge's welding shop, located south of the implement company, was also broken into and $100 in bills taken.

Colwell said that a back door at the implement company was forced open for entry to the building and that the door to the safe had been beaten open.

A door on the north side of the welding shop was forced for entry into that building, and a similar procedure was used to open the safe.

Colwell said that an undetermined amount of checks had been taken from the implement company safe.

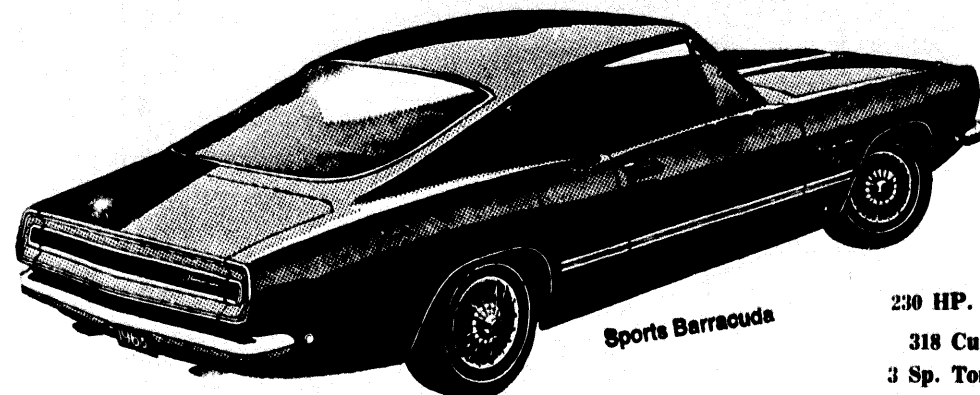

Sheriff's headquarters was notified of the incidents about 8:10 a.m. Friday and immediately dispatched deputies to the scene to begin a check for clues.

Our old friend Charley Solomon of Philadelphia, president of the World Bridge Federation, has managed in his long career at the table to win just about every trophy there is. Charley is noted for his excellent bidding.

In a recent tournament, Charley was playing with a new partner when he picked up the South hand shown today. It would have puzzled him in any event, but he finally reached the spade slam by bidding in the box.

He opened with one spade only. They were playing weak two bids but that did not matter. An expert does not bother to open with a forcing bid when he knows that someone will surely be in the bidding with or against him.

Charley's three club rebid was a force. Like all modern experts, he plays that after a two-over-one response a new suit bid is a one round force.

His five spade bid that followed is the one we really like. He clearly said, "I am very interested in a slam and I don't care about what you have in the red suits. I can play five spades anyway. Can you go to six?"

This put some pressure on North. He got the message that South did not care about the red suits, but how good were Charley's black suits? North finally decided that the combination of jack and one spade and jack of clubs plus the ace of hearts for a discard would be enough.

They just were. Charley discarded a club on the ace of hearts at trick one, led a club to his ace, ruffed a club with dummy's six of trumps, ruffed a heart, ruffed another club with dummy's jack of trumps, ruffed a diamond, played his ace of spades and claimed his slam.

Like most slams you see in print — you wonder why it wouldn't be a cinch to bid. It wasn't at the table, as may be judged from the fact that only three of 26 pairs did bid it. Some stopped at four or five, a couple got to seven, and one unfortunate pair worked its way to six no-trump.

Menees Store At Virginia Fifty Years In Family

VIRGINIA — Fifty years ago on Oct. 26 the late C. A. Menees purchased the dry goods store, located on the southeast corner of the Virginia square. It was then owned by a company which sent its managers to carry on the Virginia store's business.

At that time Mr. Menees, who for years had been salesman for Marshall Field and Company of Chicago and who was the firm's representative for its general line, purchased the stock of merchandise. He passed away after 26 years as owner of the store.

His wife, Mrs. Blanche Menees, then took over the store and for the past 24 years has conducted one of the most successful business ventures in Virginia. She is lovingly known as "Aunt Bonnie" by her hundreds of customers and friends from all parts of this area.

ISU HOMECOMING DECORATION BURNS

NORMAL, Ill. (AP)—A homecoming decoration attached to the outside of a girls' residence hall at Illinois State University caught fire and burned early Saturday, doing slight damage to the hall.

Some 800 girls were evacuated from Hewitt Hall after the fire was reported by Sheri Baxter, a senior from Rockford. The decoration, made of tissue paper and wire, was three stories high and attached through the window of her room.

Two girls who suffered from smoke inhalation were treated at the university medical center and released. They are Connie Gleason, 20, of Princeton and Kathy Michael, 20, of Skokie.

TICKET DRIVER AFTER ACCIDENT

One car was heavily damaged, and the driver ticketed as a result of a two-car accident in the 800 block of West College avenue shortly after five o'clock Friday evening.

City police reported that a westbound auto, driven by Art Harris of 316 Gladstone, struck the rear of a second westbound unit, operated by Zella E. Witham of 1329 West College.

Harris told police he glanced away from the traffic and when he looked back he was unable to avoid striking the Witham auto.

Police ticketed Harris with failure to reduce speed. The Harris car was towed from the scene.

Web Of Police Hunts Gang Duo Who Killed Cops

NORTHLAKE, ILL. (AP) — A web of state and national police were on alert Saturday for two members of a gang which danglely robbed the Northlake Bank of $83,000 Friday and killed two policemen in a savage gun battle.

The third member of the masked gang which strong-armed its way into the bank was wounded by police fire, arrested and charged with two counts of murder in the slaying of Detective Sgt. John Nagle, 31, and Patrolman Anthony P. Perri, 41.

Late Saturday night the FBI identified two men they say they are seeking in connection with the Northlake robbery.

They identified them as Henry Michael Gargano, 35, and Clifton O. Daniels, 29, former inmates of the federal prison at Marion, Ill.

An FBI spokesman said warrants have been issued charging them with the robbery of the Northlake Bank.

Gargano reportedly was released from prison in March after serving a sentence for bank robbery. Daniels was released in January, after serving a bank robbery sentence.

Neither man has been apprehended.

The FBI spokesman said Gargano and Daniels also are being sought on a warrant issued in Cleveland, Ohio, charging them with fleeing the State of Ohio to avoid prosecution for armed robbery.

They are reportedly charged with armed robbery in connection with the holdup of an A&P supermarket in Canton, Ohio, Oct. 13 in which two Canton policemen were severely wounded.

Gargano was listed as having been born in Chicago and Daniels in Cisse, Ill.

The FBI said it had no information on a recent address for the men.

Ronald Dale Ranie, 35, an ex-convict from the state of Washington, told police that the three men and a woman, believed to be the driver of a getaway car, drove from St. Louis to Lockport Thursday.

Police quoted Ranie, who first identified himself as James Randall, as saying the robbery gang stole a car near Lockport and used it on the bank assault.

Chief James Gilliam of Northlake said police were seeking James and Deborah Stewart. He did not say whether they were husband and wife or brother and sister and he did not elaborate on their relationship to the daylight robbery and the ensuing bloody exchange of gunfire.

Ranie was held in the Chicago city jail hospital. He was wounded in the back and neck. Patrolmen Michael Cain, 26, and Ernest Hustedt, 39, were also wounded and reported in fair condition.

Police believe shots fired by other policemen who raced to the scene may have wounded one of the two fugitive gunmen or the woman driver. A car was found abandoned two blocks from the bank. The front seat was soaked with blood.

Some $15,000 of the loot was recovered after it was dropped by the bandits when they encountered the police outside the bank.

The trio wore masks when they invaded the bank and ordered 15 employees and seven customers to lie on the floor. They carried pistols and an automatic rifle.

A teller punched a silent burglar alarm which rang in the Northlake police station and was answered by Nagle and Cain who were greeted by heavy rifle fire when they arrived at the bank and spotted the fleeing bandits.

Six of 10 plate glass windows in the bank were shattered and several autos parked in the vicinity were raked by fire during the shooting melee which lasted nearly 10 minutes.

Northlake, a community of 15,000 is a western suburb of Chicago.

Sterling Nurses Reject Latest Salary Offer

STERLING, Ill. (AP) — Nurses who quit their jobs at Sterling Community General Hospital rejected Saturday the latest offer of the hospital's directors which contained possible concessions.

Instead, Miss Janet Mohr, chairman of the Nursing Services Association, which represents the 139 nurses involved, called for the immediate resumption of negotiations "between the Nursing Staff Committee with the Illinois Nursing Association and the hospital."

The board's latest offer which it called a "Proposed memorandum of understanding," refused to recognize the Illinois Nursing Association as the nurses' bargaining agent.

However, the board offered $500 monthly as starting wages for a registered staff nurse. The nurses have been receiving $460 and asked $540 in their original demand.

Mayor Jerome Sleeper called a special meeting of the City Council for Sunday to discuss the hospital situation.

Dr. LaMonte Ballard, president of the hospital's medical staff, said that group passed a resolution firmly supporting the board's stand in not recognizing the Illinois Nursing Association as bargaining agent.

Virtually the entire nursing staff tendered their resignations Wednesday after a strike that began Oct. 7. A court injunction has held the strike illegal but the nurses contend that they don't have to return to work because they resigned.

Web Of Police Hunts Gang Duo Who Killed Cops

NORTHLAKE, ILL. (AP) — A web of state and national police were on alert Saturday for two members of a gang which danglely robbed the Northlake Bank of $83,000 Friday and killed two policemen in a savage gun battle.

The third member of the masked gang which strong-armed its way into the bank was wounded by police fire, arrested and charged with two counts of murder in the slaying of Detective Sgt. John Nagle, 31, and Patrolman Anthony P. Perri, 41.

Late Saturday night the FBI identified two men they say they are seeking in connection with the Northlake robbery.

They identified them as Henry Michael Gargano, 35, and Clifton O. Daniels, 29, former inmates of the federal prison at Marion, Ill.

An FBI spokesman said warrants have been issued charging them with the robbery of the Northlake Bank.

Gargano reportedly was released from prison in March after serving a sentence for bank robbery. Daniels was released in January, after serving a bank robbery sentence.

Neither man has been apprehended.

The FBI spokesman said Gargano and Daniels also are being sought on a warrant issued in Cleveland, Ohio, charging them with fleeing the State of Ohio to avoid prosecution for armed robbery.

They are reportedly charged with armed robbery in connection with the holdup of an A&P supermarket in Canton, Ohio, Oct. 13 in which two Canton policemen were severely wounded.

Gargano was listed as having been born in Chicago and Daniels in Cline, Ill.

The FBI said it had no information on a recent address for the men.

Ronald Dale Ranie, 35, an ex-convict from the state of Washington, told police that the three men and a woman, believed to be the driver of a getaway car, drove from St. Louis to Lockport Thursday.

Police quoted Ranie, who first identified himself as James Randall, as saying the robbery gang stole a car near Lockport and used it on the bank assault.

Chief James Gilliam of Northlake said police were seeking James and Deborah Stewart. He did not say whether they were husband and wife or brother and sister and he did not elaborate on their relationship to the daylight robbery and the ensuing bloody exchange of gunfire.

Ranie was held in the Chicago city jail hospital. He was wounded in the back and neck. Patrolmen Michael Cain, 26, and Ernest Hustedt, 39, were also wounded and reported in fair condition.

Police believe shots fired by other policemen who raced to the scene may have wounded one of the two fugitive gunmen or the woman driver. A car was found abandoned two blocks from the bank. The front seat was soaked with blood.

Some $15,000 of the loot was recovered after it was dropped by the bandits when they encountered the police outside the bank.

The trio wore masks when they invaded the bank and ordered 15 employees and seven customers to lie on the floor. They carried pistols and an automatic rifle.

A teller punched a silent burglar alarm which rang in the Northlake police station and was answered by Nagle and Cain who were greeted by heavy rifle fire when they arrived at the bank and spotted the fleeing bandits.

Six of 10 plate glass windows in the bank were shattered and several autos parked in the vicinity were raked by fire during the shooting melee which lasted nearly 10 minutes.

Northlake, a community of 15,000 is a western suburb of Chicago.

Beauty Care Today

By MID

Facial exercise can be very helpful in improving problem areas. Many women find that the skin under the chin has a tendency to be too relaxed.

Did you know there are exercises to help firm your chin-line?

Put yourself in front of a mirror. Now don't just break down laughing, these are really helpful.

First exercise: Try to wiggle your ears. It probably won't happen, but you're using some seldom-used muscle.

Second exercise: Pull the corners of your mouth down just as far as they will go. Hold a couple of seconds.

Third exercise: Tilt your head back. Now drop your jaw, mouth wide open. Snap it shut quickly.

Suggestion: Repeat these three exercises a few times a day. Your chinline will tighten and gain needed muscle tone.

Beauty Care Today

Facial exercise can be very helpful in improving problem areas. Many women find that the skin under the chin has a tendency to be too relaxed.

Did you know there are exercises to help firm your chin-line?

Put yourself in front of a mirror. Now don't just break down laughing, these are really helpful.

First exercise: Try to wiggle your ears. It probably won't happen, but you're using some seldom-used muscle.

Second exercise: Pull the corners of your mouth down just as far as they will go. Hold a couple of seconds.

Third exercise: Tilt your head back. Now drop your jaw, mouth wide open. Snap it shut quickly.

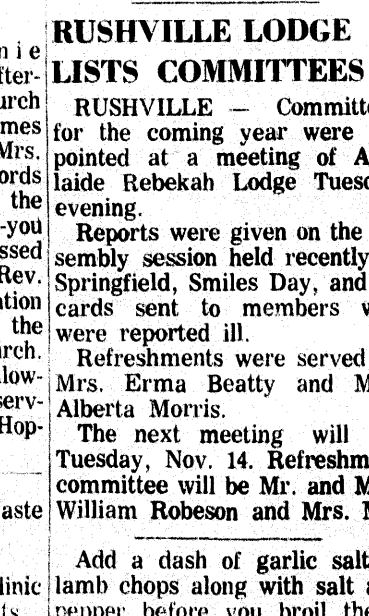

Suggestion: Repeat these three exercises a few times a day. Your chinline will tighten and gain needed muscle tone.

Milady's wig today a correct fashion necessity

Years ago only royalty and the idle rich wore wigs. A wig was a symbol of affluence, and often of foppishness. But no longer. Today, a wig is a second head of hair, a correct fashion necessity for women at all social and economic strata.

Wigs are so adroitly styled, so fashion-right, that any woman can find just the wig that flatters her most. Wigs are always ready to provide instant glamour. And, happy thought, most wigs are not costly. A wig will hold its set for thirty or forty wearings. That means fewer trips to the beauty shop. Hence, a wig will pay for itself in a short time.

Today's wigs have become an established phase of hairdressing because they serve some very real and attractive purposes related to neither bald, spot nor a hot sun. They serve to make Milady more attractive, and they serve to make it easy and convenient for Milady to be attractive. For the career girl, vacationer, busy mother — in short for every woman — the wig is an asset.

All Human Hair Best
Wigmaking is an art that is approaching perfection. The hair in the best wigs is all human hair. Women in certain European and Asian countries are the sources for this hair. Their hair is clipped and gathered at intervals by representatives of the wigmakers. This hair is much healthier, glossier and more beautiful than the natural hair of most American women because it hasn't been abused or exposed to cosmetics and detergents. The hair is graded, thoroughly cleansed and sanitized.

Then it is ready for the wig-maker who shapes it in a variety of gorgeous colors into wigs. Coiffures are created by leading hair stylists. The results are stunning hair creations of sheer flattery. In essence, a wig means beautiful hair in a minute, confidence, poise, radiance, and a natural look.

Country vegetable stands reportedly have risen 25 per cent in number in the past decade.

Medic Alert Tag Saves Man's Life

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON
AP Science Writer

TURLOCK, Calif. (AP) — A man digging for gem stones accidentally stepped on a nest of yellow jackets. About 15 stung him. His throat swelled and he couldn't tell a companion he was deathly allergic to stings. But he pointed to a little metal tag he was wearing.

His companion, who had been scoffing at "a few little stings," rushed him to the emergency room of the nearest hospital.

"The doctor said more delay might have meant his life," his wife wrote Medic Alert Foundation International, Turlock, Calif. 95380.

The nonprofit, tax-exempt charitable foundation gets many grateful letters from among almost 200,000 persons wearing Medic Alert tags on bracelets or necklaces.

New enrollments average 2,500 a month, says Chester L. Watts, executive director.

The American Medical Association estimates that 40 million Americans—one in five—should be wearing medical identification because of a hidden health problem. It can prevent painful mistakes in treatment—or save a life.

There are some 200 reasons, ranging from drug allergies to use of contact lenses, for wearing a warning notice. Some persons can tolerate contact lenses for short periods only. Doctors and nurses may not notice such lenses on the eyes of patients brought unconscious to the hospital.

The foundation tag bears the words Medic Alert and the serpent-tined staff, universal medical symbol, emblazoned in red enamel on one side.

On the back is engraved the wearer's medical problem, such as: "Diabetes," "epilepsy," "allergic to—stings, certain drugs or antibiotics," "hemophilia," "wearing contact lenses," "scuba diver."

Scuba diver? "Yes," says Watts. "Divers can have attacks of bends two hours after leaving the water and symptoms resemble those of acute intoxication."

The reverse of the tag also carries a serial number assigned to the wearer, and 209-634-4917, telephone number of the foundation, where a round-the-clock service of a central answering file is maintained. Collect calls are accepted from physicians, law enforcement officials and others in emergency.

The central file contains, besides medical information about the member, the name, address and telephone number of his doctor and of the wearer's nearest relative. It may also carry such information as his blood type, religion and if he has willed his eyes to an eye bank, which must obtain delivery within a short time after death. A one-time only membership fee of $5 provides a wallet card and a stainless steel link bracelet or 24-inch necklace with the tag. About one-third of the members prefer sterling silver, Watts says, and they pay $7.50. Indigent persons can obtain them free.

A percentage of each fee goes into a trust fund to perpetuate the central file.

Dr. Marion C. Collins of Turlock founded Medic Alert in 1956 after his daughter, Linda, was administered an antitetanus injection by another physician. Linda, then 14, was allergic to the serum and almost died. Dr. Collins is president of the foundation, the largest of its kind in the world.

Late Illini TD Nets 17-13 Edge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Halfback Dave Jackson crashed over the goal line with 34 seconds to play Saturday, bringing Illinois from behind in a 17-13 Big Ten football victory over Ohio State.

It spoiled a Buckeye homecoming day before a crowd of 33,928.

The fleet-footed Jackson, who has been out of action for two games because of an injury, earlier scored the Illini's first touchdown on a 14-yard run with 5:24 remaining in the first period.

Dan McKissic, who booted both extra points for the winners, completed the Illinois scoring with a 31-yard field goal in the final three seconds of the first half.

Ohio State, plagued by costly fumbles and a pass interception that set up the first Illini touchdown, fell behind 10-0 before the running of Dave Brungard sparked the Bucks' attack in the DiMeglio, who moments before saw his goal nullified by an offside call, connected on a left footer from 15 yards 10:52 into the closing period. Both Bradstreet and Kuehl were given assists.

Wildcats Stave Off Rally, Nip Wisconsin, 17-13

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Northwestern built up a solid lead on Wisconsin errors, then held off a Badger second half rally for a 17-13 Big Ten football victory Saturday before a homecoming crowd that included President Lyndon Johnson's daughter, Lynda.

The Wildcats, who have yet to score more than two touchdowns in any of their six games, got their quota in the second period against the winless Badgers and added a 24-yard field goal by Dick Emmerich in the final period.

Mark Proskine recovered a John Smith fumble at the Badger nine to set the stage for the field goal that gave the Wildcats a 17-7 lead.

The Badgers, 0-5-1, scored a touchdown by Wayne Todd from the nine with 4:15 left.

But time and a stout Northwestern defense kept the Badgers from getting any closer.

The Wildcats, who won their first conference game of the season, shut off Wisconsin without a score until the second half, despite two first-period fumbles recovered by the Badgers.

A diving interception by Dennis White shortly before the end of the opening period gave Northwestern the ball at the 44 and in 11 plays the Wildcats scored with Chico Kurzwaski hammering in from the one.

The Wildcats mounted their only sustained drive a few minutes later, rolling 60 yards in 14 plays for another touchdown.

Central Mich. Downs ISU 19-14

NORMAL, Ill. (AP) — Central Michigan knocked Illinois State University from football's undefeated ranks with a 19-14 victory Saturday.

Junior halfback Craig Tefft scored all of Central Michigan's touchdowns as the school captured the Interstate Conference lead with a 2-0 record and a 6-1 season mark. State now is 2-1 in the IIAAC and 6-1 over all.

Tefft plunged for two yards and one yard in the first half to cap drives of 64 and 60 yards.

ISD Rally Allows Tie With MSD

By REG ANKROM

The Missouri School for the Deaf Eagles failed to take advantage of an early lead sparked by halfback Lardge Jefferson's two touchdowns in the first quarter, but managed an 18-18 tie against the ISD Tigers Saturday, the closest they've come to winning in 30 years.

The Eagles returned the opening kickoff to the ISD 23. Sprints by Jefferson and 142-pound halfback Bob Powell brought the ball to the Tigers' one-yard line in five plays. With less than two minutes of the opening quarter elapsed, Jefferson dove over the ISD defensive line for the score.

A costly fumble by ISD in their first series of plays set the Eagles up for their second touchdown. Taking the ball from the Tigers' 27-yard line, the ISD progressed in two plays to the 15 from where Jefferson ran around end unaccompanied for six more points.

ISD bounced back near the end of the first quarter with hard-charging Jesse Joyner romping 76 yards for the first Tiger goal.

The margin was evened in the second quarter with Joyner again racing upfield from the MSD 28-yard line for the touchdown.

After a 20-yard kickoff return by Jefferson, Powell ran 60 yards for the third MSD touchdown on the first play from scrimmage in the second half. The Eagles failed to take advantage of a fumble in ISD territory in the third quarter, losing the ball to the tigers in three plays.

Start Final Drive

The Tigers started their final drive of the quarter on their own 13-yard line. With Joyner pushing forward for 38 yards, Mike Wiewiczowski for ten, and other Tigers accounting for 34 yards, ISD threatened from the MSD five-yard line. ISD, however, couldn't get past the firm MSD defense.

MSD, taking possession of the ball on their five, elected to punt, recovering the ball when an ISD player touched it and failed to retrieve it. A strong defensive surge by ISD pushed the Eagles into a five-yard deficit. Quarterback Lonnie Overstreet, with 15 yards to go for first down, threw a pass that was intercepted by ISD.

Picking up two first downs in fourth down situations, Ron Penn and quarterback Ron Sipek led the Tiger drive from their 42-yard line. Penn took a handoff from Sipek and scored on a three-yard run.

Back And Forth

MSD, trying to gain possession of the lead, went to the air three times unsuccessfully, twice on the draw play. The ball changed hands, after ISD took over, on two fumbles. The Tigers, with about 30 seconds remaining, used the aerial attack unsuccessfully to attempt the tie-breaker.

Despite their weak start, ISD managed to lead the Eagles in rushing yardage. At halftime, MSD had gained 106 yards and had held the Tigers to 99 yards. The Tigers picked up their major gains on the two touchdown runs by Joyner of 76-yards and 28 yards.

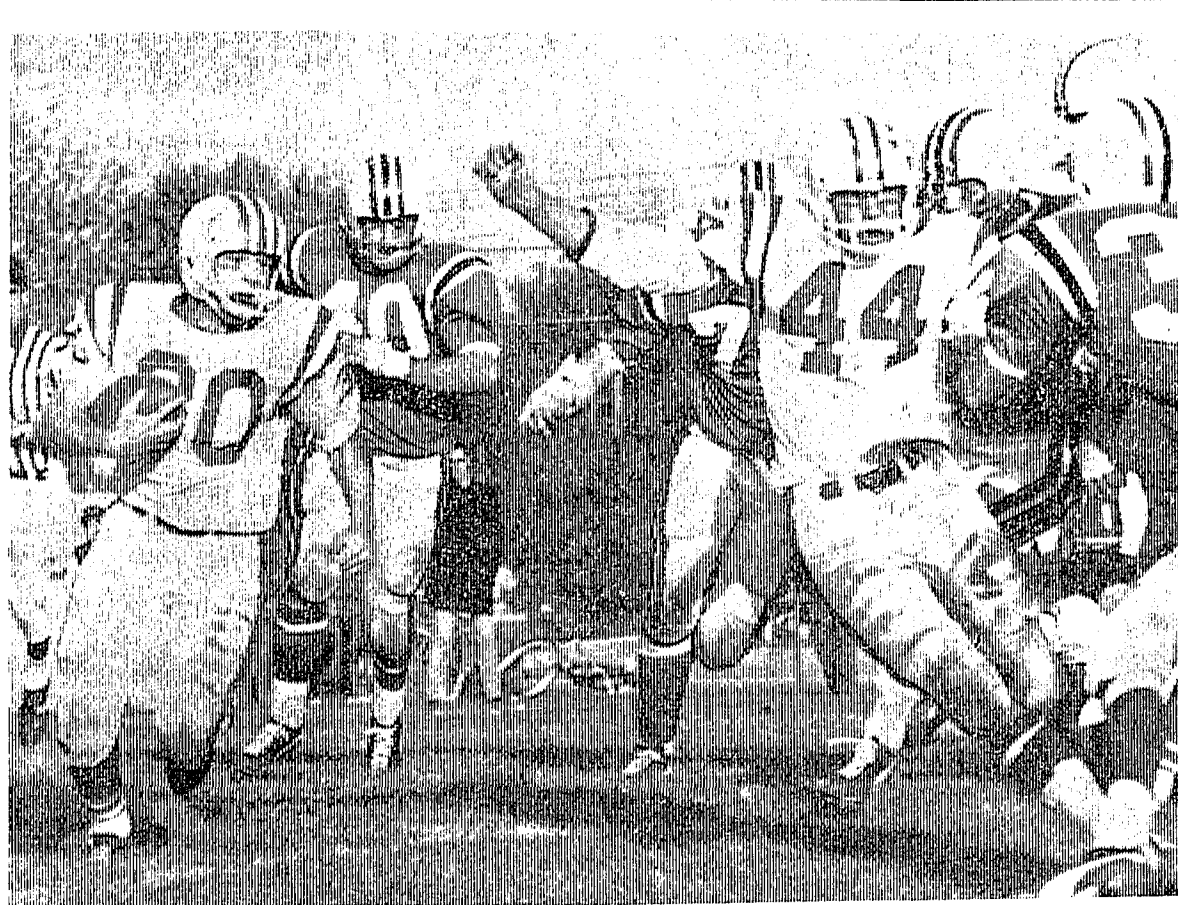

MSD ground-ganiers in the first half were Jefferson with 34-yards, Powell with 19, Ray McClintock with 19, Overstreet with 19 and Wayne Learue with 15. ISD racked up 143 yards however in the second half while MSD was held to 98. Joyner again was the leading rusher accounting for 51 ISD yards. Mike Wasisco and Penn aided in the rush with 25 yards each. Powell scored most of the Eagles' yardage in the second half, with 67-yards.

Neither team relied on passing attacks. MSD went to the air four times, completed one, and gained 26-yards. ISD threw five passes, all incomplete.

The Tigers lost the ball four times to fumbles while MSD fumbled three times. ISD picked up ten first downs to MSD's four. Penn pulled one interception for ISD.

The Tigers lost five yards on Eagles were set back 15 for an off-sides penalty while the grabbing a face-mask.

Colorado Falls 10-7

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Oklahoma State's quick Cowboys marched for a touchdown on the opening kickoff and stunned third-ranked Colorado 10-7 Saturday.

State's touchdown surge at the start sent the previously unbeaten Buffaloes into deep shock from which they never recovered. It was Colorado's first defeat in 10 games dating back to last season.

The Buffaloes, sluggish and inept for three quarters, moved for a 63-yard touchdown march early in the fourth period after the Cowboys had taken a 10-0 lead.

But Colorado's hopes of overtaking the Cowboys, 1-2-1 coming into the game, vanished on a freak fourth down play with less than six minutes remaining.

Oklahoma State quarterback Ronnie Johnson, back to punt on fourth-and-nine, had to run with the ball instead because of a fumbled pass from center. He got the first down on Colorado's 38 with a 23-yard dash. Although Colorado braced on its seven and took over on downs with 3 1/2 minutes left, the Buffaloes couldn't advance beyond their 43.

The difference proved to be Craig Kessler's 26-yard field goal late in the third period.

Keyes Notches Four Touchdowns In 41-22 Margin

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Explosive Purdue got a four-touchdown performance from Leroy Keyes and buried Iowa 41-22 Saturday to remain unbeaten in Big Ten play.

The Boiler-makers built their record to 3-0 in the conference and 5-1 for the season.

Keyes, a 6-3, 200-pound halfback, scored the second of his four markers early in the second quarter when he raced 81 yards untouched to score.

The swift junior also tallied on a three-yard run, and on passes of 29 and 46 yards from quarterback Mike Phipps.

On the game's third play, Iowa quarterback Ed Podolak fumbled and Purdue recovered on the Hawkeye 18. Seven plays later, Keyes went over.

Iowa, now 0-3-1 in the Big Ten, shaved the margin to 14-7 midway through the second quarter when Podolak hit end Al Bream with a 14-yard scoring pass.

But the seventh-ranked Boiler-makers came right back as fullback Perry Taylor spun out of the hands of several Iowa tacklers and went 45 yards to score.

Iowa cut it to 20-14 with a minute left in the first half, but Purdue scored once in the third quarter and twice again in the fourth to put it away.

Washington University of St. Louis won the team title, followed by Western Illinois, who took the NAIA District 20 crown by virtue of the place.

Dennis Mueller was Mac's top finisher, taking fifth in 20:27 over a four-mile course. Jim Samuels took 15th in 21:15 and Rich Firebaugh 33rd in 21:55.

Central's VanDyne Sparks Visitors

By BUFORD GREEN Sports Editor

Quarterback Dick VanDyne passed for four touchdowns and ran another across to pace Central Methodist to an easy 33-13 victory over punchless, mistake-plagued Illinois College, in IC's Homecoming game Saturday afternoon.

While VanDyne was more than enough by himself, the Blueboys aided the winners by losing a whopping seven of nine fumbles. Two of the fumbles and a fourth down gamble by IC that failed were turned into scores by Central Methodist, which had a 33-0 lead early in the final period.

Stellar halfback Tom Rowland was the only offense IC managed all day. Rowland picked up a total of 141 yards in 26 carries. Rowland, who is third in the NAIA District 20 rushing statistics entering the game, also picked off his 11th interception of the game, putting him among the leaders in the country in both NAIA and NCAA.

While Rowland kept the IC offense rolling at times, IC once again generated no passing threat at all, keeping the defenses stacked for Rowland and the running game. Using three quarterbacks, the Blueboys did not complete a pass in nine attempts and had one intercepted.

VanDyne, a 5-11, 179-pound senior from Sedalia, Mo., tore up the Blueboy's weak pass defense with a seven-yard scoring toss in the deep left flat. Bill Pentland booted the point after for a 13-0 halftime difference.

Late in the half IC moved from their own 44 to the Central 33 with 48 seconds left but Rowland lost a fumble at the 35.

IC gave Central another scoring chance early in the third stanza as Oscar Young's bobble gave the visitors the ball on the Blueboy's 22. After four running plays moved the ball to the ten, Rowland knocked down two passes and Mike Herter one to momentarily halt the Eagles.

Fumble Cost Again

Unable to move again, IC crouched up the ball again on the 26 when Rowland fumbled. From there it took Central only three plays to hit paydirt again, with VanDyne throwing 26 yards to end Earl DeLaRoche. Herter blocked the PAT kick with 8:06 left in the third.

IC ran their lost fumble total in the third quarter to four on their next two series, with Snowden and Danny Brooks giving up the pigskin. Brooks' bobble gave Central the ball on the Blueboys' 33 and the visitors scored in three plays again.

Fisher ran for 14 to the 19, Tom Schiemehl got fice to the 14 and VanDyne hit Alvis with a 14-yard toss in the right flat. Pentland converted again for a 33-0 count with 11:20 to play.

IC Gets On Board

Doug Hardwick scooped up a Central fumble at the visitor's 44 with eight minutes left to set up IC's first score. Rowland soon ten to the 32 and 15-yard penalty moved the ball to the 14. Rowland shot off right tackle for 91 to the three and sliced off left tackle on the next play for six points.

An interception by Mike Sheehan at the Central 48 allowed the final score of the chilly afternoon.

From the 48 it took the Blueboys nine plays to hit paydirt. Bill Tharp, Rowland and another 15-yard penalty on the visitors moved the ball to the two from where Tharp, a freshman fullback from Pleasant Hill, lunged over. Rowland booted the point after to complete the scoring for the day with only 37 seconds left on the clock.

The loss, IC's fourth straight after opening tie, leaves the Blueboys at 0-4-1, and insures IC of its first losing season in six years.

From there the Eagles punched it out to the nine from there VanDyne hit halfback Dave Alvis with a 68 final round.

Lucky Break Lets Jack Win Sahara

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Big Jack Nicklaus needed a lucky break on the final hole where his ball was one-half inch inside of bounds to win the $100,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament Saturday with a final round 71 and a 72-hole total of 270.

That gave him a one-stroke victory over young Steve Spray of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who wound up with 71 and 271.

Nicklaus hooked his tee shot on the final hole and it required a close check by officials to determine that the ball was in bounds.

He then hit his second shot into a trap and took a bogey 5 on the hole. Nicklaus posted rounds of 68-69-62 and 71 for his victory which was worth $20,000.

Spray after rounds of 69-64-67 before his even par finishing round, earned $12,000, the highest of his career.

Spray, who hadn't lived up to his name with only two bogeys and one double bogey in the first three rounds, carded four bogeys on the 7,069-yard, par 36-35-71 Paradise Valley course on a beautiful sunny day.

In third place at 276 was Hugh Royer of Columbus, Ga., who had a 68 final round.

For the 27-year-old Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, it was his third Sahara triumph and fifth PGA tournament victory of the year. His $20,000 prize raised his 1967 money total to $188,998 and enabled him to wrest the leadership in the currency chase over Arnold Palmer.

Palmer finished with a disappointing 72 and finished low in the pack with 284.

Spray's best previous effort was a tie for sixth at Atlanta last month.

NORTHERN 24, HILLSDALE 14 DE KALB, Ill. (AP) — End John Spilis snagged three touchdowns passes to lead Northern Illinois to a 24-14 homecoming football victory over Hillsdale College of Michigan Saturday.

One 28-yard pass was from quarterback Mike Greisman, who hit seven out of 12 throws. Bob Carpenter connected with Spilis on 21-yard and 24-yard touchdowns.

Patterson was Hillsdale's leading rusher, carrying 28 times for 102 yards. Halfback Bruce Bray ran 55 yards to lead rushing for Northern.

Late Illini TD Nets 17-13 Edge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Halfback Dave Jackson crashed over the goal line with 34 seconds to play Saturday, bringing Illinois to within a 17-13 Big Ten football victory over Ohio State.

It spoiled a Buckeye homecoming day before a crowd of 33,928.

Ohio State, plagued by costly fumbles and a pass interception that set up the first Illini touchdown, fell behind 10-0 before the running of Dave Brungard sparked the Bucks' attack in the second half.

Brungard, a sophomore from Youngstown, Ohio, swept left end on the third play after the second half kickoff, shook off one tackler and then sped 67 yards for Ohio's first score. A try for a two-point conversion failed.

Midway through the final quarter, quarterback Bill Long guided Ohio on a 74-yard march that consumed 18 plays. The drive was capped by a touchdown with 6:13 remaining when Long found end Billy Anders in the end zone, Anders turning in a diving catch.

It looked like the Bucks were still in contention for a Rose Bowl trip until Illinois stormed 76 yards for the game ending touchdown.

Brungard racked up 165 yards in 28 carries but also fumbled twice, ending serious Buckeye scoring chances.

Chris DiMeglio pushed in a goal on as assist from Ron Bradstreet and Werner Quies halfway through the final period to snap a 1-1 tie and give the MacMurray soccer squad a 2-1 victory over Hope College of Holland, Michigan, in the Highlanders' Homecoming match Saturday afternoon.

Hope came back later in the period with Bob Griswold scoring to end the scoring until DiMeglio's game-winning goal.

The Highlanders, who notched their fourth straight victory, were led by center fullback Mike Grossman, freshman halfback Les Hendricks, outside right Bradstreet and right fullback Bob Rosenthal.

Hope got off 20 shots to MacMurray's 18, and had seven corner kicks to only four by the eventual winners. Clan goal Ted Dillard was credited with ten saves, to four by his Hope counterpart.

The victory boosts MacMurray to 6-2 overall and 3-2 in conference action. Hope stands 3-5-1 by the year.

Wildcats Stave Off Rally, Nip Wisconsin, 17-13

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Northwestern built up a solid lead on Wisconsin errors, then held off a Badger second half rally for a 17-13 Big Ten football victory Saturday before a homecoming crowd that included President Lyndon Johnson's daughter, Lynda.

The Wildcats, who have yet to score more than two touchdowns in any of their six games, got their quota in the second period against the winless Badgers and added a 24-yard field goal by Dick Emmerich in the final period.

Mark Proskine recovered a John Smith fumble at the Badger nine to set the stage for the field goal that gave the Wildcats a 17-7 lead.

The Badgers, 0-5-1, scored a touchdown by Wayne Todd from the nine with 4:15 left.

But time and a stout Northwestern defense kept the Badgers from getting any closer.

The Wildcats, who won their first conference game of the season, shut off Wisconsin with-out a score until the second half, despite two first-period fumbles recovered by the Badgers.

A diving interception by Dennis White shortly before the end of the opening period gave Northwestern the ball at the 44 and in 11 plays the Wildcats scored with Chico Kurzawski hammering in from the one.

The Wildcats mounted their only sustained drive a few minutes later, rolling 60 yards in 14 plays for another touchdown.

Central Mich. Downs ISU 19-14

NORMAL, Ill. (AP) — Central Michigan knocked Illinois State University from football's undefeated ranks with a 19-14 victory Saturday.

Junior halfback Craig Tefft scored all of Central Michigan's touchdowns as the school cap-tured the Interstate Conference lead with a 2-0 record and a 6-1 season mark. State now is 2-1 in the IAC and 6-1 over all.

Tefft plunged for two yards and one yard in the first half to cap drives of 64 and 60 yards.

ISD Rally Allows Tie With MSD

By REG ANKROM

The Missouri School for the Deaf Eagles failed to take advantage of an early lead sparked by halfback Lardge Jefferson's two touchdowns in the first quarter, but managed an 18-18 tie against the ISD Tigers Saturday, the closest they've come to winning in 30 years.

The Eagles returned the opening kickoff to the ISD 23. Sprints by Jefferson and 142-pound halfback Bob Powell brought the ball to the Tigers' one-yard line in five plays. With less than two minutes of the opening quarter elapsed, Jefferson dove over the ISD defensive line for the score.

A costly fumble by ISD in their first series of plays set the Eagles up for their second touchdown. Taking the ball from the Tigers' 27-yard line, the ISD progressed in two plays to the 15 from where Jefferson ran around end unaccompanied for six more points.

Statistics:	ISD	MSD
First Downs	10	4
Net rushing	242	204
Net passing	0	26
Passes	0-5	1-4

Offensive plays	59	36

ISD bounced back near the end of the first quarter with hard-charging Jesse Joyner romping 76 yards for the first Tiger goal.

The margin was evened in the second quarter with Joyner again racing upfield from the MSD 28-yard line for the touchdown.

After a 20-yard kickoff return by Jefferson, Powell ran 60 yards for the third MSD touchdown on the first play from scrimmage in the second half. The Eagles failed to take advantage of a fumble in ISD territory in the third quarter, losing the ball to the tigers in three plays.

Start Final Drive

The Tigers started their final drive of the quarter on their own 13-yard line. With Joyner pushing forward for 38 yards, Mike Wiczarowski for ten, and other Tigers accounting for 34 yards, ISD threatened from the MSD five-yard line. ISD, however, couldn't get past the firm MSD defense.

MSD, taking possession of the ball on their five, elected to punt, recovering the ball when an ISD player touched it and failed to retrieve it. A strong defensive surge by ISD pushed the Eagles into a five-yard deficit. Quarterback Lonnie Overstreet, with 15 yards to go for first down, threw a pass that was intercepted by ISD.

Picking up two first downs in fourth down situations, Ron Penn and quarterback Ron Sipek led the Tiger drive from their 42-yard line. Penn took a handoff from Sipek and scored on a three-yard run.

Back And Forth

MSD, trying to gain possession of the lead, went to the air three times unsuccessfully, twice on the draw play. The ball changed hands, after ISD took over, on two fumbles. The Tigers, with about 30 seconds remaining, used the aerial attack unsuccessfully to attempt the tie-breaker.

Despite their weak start, ISD managed to lead the Eagles in rushing yardage. At halftime, MSD had gained 106 yards and had held the Tigers to 99 yards. The Tigers picked up their major gains on the two touchdown runs by Joyner of 76-yards and 28 yards.

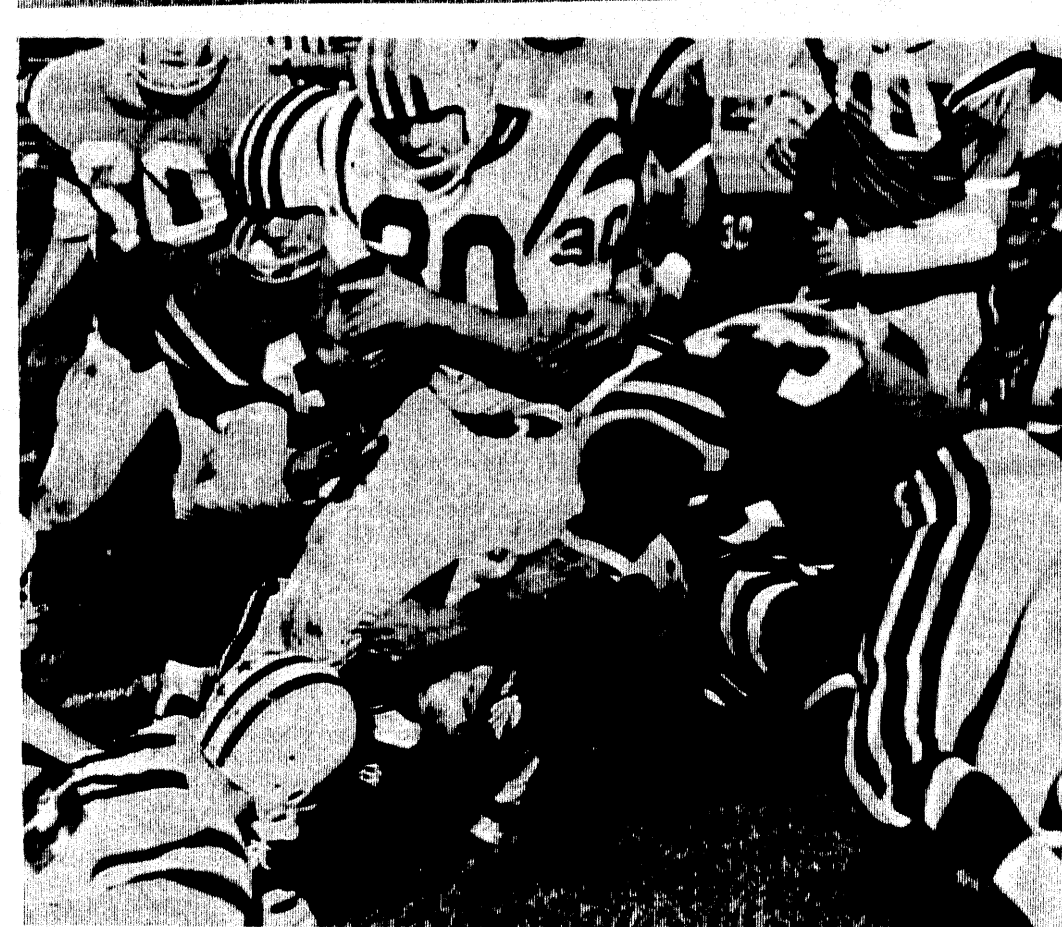

MSD ground-gainers in the first half were Jefferson with 34-yards, Powell with 19, Ray McClintock with 19, Overstreet with 19 and Wayne Learue with 15. ISD racked up 143 yards however in the second half while MSD was held to 98. Joyner again was the leading rusher accounting for 51 ISD yards. Mike Wasisco and Penn aided in the rush with 25 yards each. Powell scored most of the Eagles' yardage in the second half, with 67-yards.

Neither team relied on passing attacks. MSD went to the air four times, completed one, and gained 26-yards. ISD threw five passes, all incomplete.

The Tigers lost the ball four times to fumbles while MSD fumbled three times. ISD picked up ten first downs to MSD's four. Penn pulled one inter-ception for ISD.

The Tigers lost five yards on Eagles were set back 15 for an off-sides penalty while the grabbing a face-mask.

Score by quarters:
ISD 6 6 0 6-18
MSD 12 0 6 0-18

Colorado Falls 10-7

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Oklahoma State's quick Cowboys marched for a touchdown on the opening kickoff and stunned third-ranked Colorado 10-7 Saturday.

State's touchdown surge at the start sent the previously unbeaten Buffaloes into deep shock from which they never recovered. It was Colorado's first defeat in 10 games dating back to last season.

But Colorado's hopes of overtaking the Cowboys, 1-2-1 coming into the game, vanished on a freak fourth down play with less than six minutes remaining.

Oklahoma State quarterback Ronnie Johnson, back to punt on fourth-and-nine, had to run with the ball instead because of a fumbled pass from center. He got the first down on Colorado's 38 with a 23-yard dash. Although Colorado braced on its seven and took over on downs with 3 1/2 minutes left, the Buffaloes couldn't advance beyond their 43.

The Buffaloes, sluggish and inept for three quarters, moved for a 63-yard touchdown march early in the fourth period after the Cowboys had taken a 10-0 lead.

Central's VanDyne Sparks Visitors

By BUFORD GREEN

Sports Editor

Quarterback Dick VanDyne passed for four touchdowns and ran another across to pace Central Methodist to an easy 33-13 victory over punchless, mistake-plagued Illinois College, in IC's Homecoming game Saturday afternoon.

While VanDyne was more than enough by himself, the Blueboys aided the winners by losing a whopping seven of nine fumbles. Two of the fumbles and a fourth down gamble by IC that failed were turned into scores by Central Methodist, which had a 33-0 lead early in the final period.

Stellar halfback Tom Rowland was the only offense IC managed all day. Rowland picked up a total of 141 yards in 26 carries. Rowland, who is third in the NAIA District 20 rushing statistics entering the game, also picked off his 11th interception of the game, putting him among the leaders in the country in both NAIA and NCAA.

While Rowland kept the IC offense rolling at times, IC once again generated no passing threat at all, keeping the defenses stacked for Rowland and the running game. Using three quarterbacks, the Blueboys did not complete a pass in nine attempts and had one intercepted.

VanDyne, a 5-11, 179-pound senior from Sedalia, Mo., tore up the Blueboy's weak pass de-with a seven-yard scoring toss in the deep left flat. Bill Pentland booted the point after for a 13-0 halftime difference.

Zimmerman Aids Irish Over MSU

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Sophomore Jeff Zimmerman scored three touchdowns, one on a zig-zagging 47-yard run, to pace relentless Notre Dame to a 24-12 football victory over trouble-beset Michigan State Saturday.

Zimmerman also bolted seven yards, capping an 84-yard march, for Notre Dame's first touchdown and grabbed a 30-yard scoring pass from Terry Hanratty, giving the Irish a 17-0 halftime lead.

The nationally televised contest bore faint resemblance to last year's classic 10-10 Irish-Spartan deadlock at East Lansing, Mich. Injury and suspension-wracked MSU failed to score until only 10 minutes remained, with Dwight Lee smashing the final two yards of a 54-yard drive.

A few minutes later, the Spartans struck again after recovering an Irish fumble on Notre Dame's 33 and scored on a six-yard pass from emergency quarterback Bill Feraco to end Frank Waters.

Not until the final quarter could Michigan State, its lineup patched to replace injured quarterback Jimmy Raye and six players suspended for a curfew violation, carry the battle to the hard-hitting Irish.

Over the first three quarters in which Notre Dame built a 24-0 lead, which also included a 32-yard field goal by Joe Azaro in the second quarter, Michigan State crossed midfield only twice, reaching the Irish 39 in the second period and ND's 18 in the third.

In notching its fourth victory against setbacks by top-ranked Southern California and Purdue, Notre Dame scored on touchdown drive of 34, 41 and 82 yards. They were a mixture of Hanratty's timely passing and the strong running of Zimmerman, Rocky Bleier and Bob Gladieux.

Patterson Beaten On Split Decision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's Jerry Quarry bounced former two-time champion Floyd Patterson out of the world heavyweight boxing eliminations Saturday by winning a split and controversial 12-round decision.

The 22-year-old Quarry floored the 32-year-old Patterson for mandatory eight counts in the second and fourth rounds before losing to the popular bomber from nearby Bellflower.

Referee Vern Bybee from San Francisco, who was brought down as an outsider to officiate, scored the fight a draw with each fighter receiving six points.

Bybee was overruled, however, when judges Lee Grassing and Joey Olmos gave it to Quarry 7-6.

The Associated Press had it 6-6. The nationally televised rematch—the two fought a 10-round draw in Los Angeles on June 9—drew a disappointing crowd in the Olympic Auditorium of well less than its 10,000 capacity.

Patterson was given a warm ovation when he entered the ring but Quarry obviously had the partisan support of his Southern California backers.

Neither fighter was visibly marked but it was a vicious fight in which three times neither would back away when the bell sounded and it took heroic efforts by the referee to separate them.

Quarry dumped Patterson in the second round with a right to the side of the jaw. Patterson went backwards to the seat of his pants and bounced up quickly. The mandatory eight count was tolled off.

In the fourth, Quarry, a dangerous young man with either hand, unleashed a volley of blows and it appeared a solid right to the body caused the most damage and Patterson's second downfall. Floyd was up again quickly.

Patterson, from New York, weighed 195 and Quarry 193 at fight time.

California's scoring awards the winner of a round from one to five points, the loser none and an even round is marked zero for each.

Midway in the fight, Quarry, much the stronger and a take-over fighter for this one up to this point, was well ahead. But Patterson began to find the range with his rights and lefts, concentrating almost entirely to the head.

In the ninth, for some reason, Quarry elected to dance around with both hands lowered. The carelessness did not go unnoticed by Floyd. He quickly landed two hard left hand smashes to the head.

In the final seconds of the round, Quarry lashed out with both hands but Patterson's defensive screen caught most of the blows on his arms and shoulders.

Both Sides Happy With 'The Game'

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — This time there was a winner and there was a loser and everybody was happy.

Notre Dame was supposed to win and did. Michigan State was expected to be routed but fought back like a champion and went down by the respectable score of 24-12.

MSU Coach Duffy Daugherty was beaming in defeat and announced that he had reinstated the six players he had suspended for disciplinary reasons last week.

"I reinstated them yesterday," said Daugherty, "but I told them they couldn't play in this game and I'm still not naming them."

"Notre Dame obviously was the much better team," said Daugherty, "but I'm pleased with the way the boys came back in the fourth quarter. Then we ran out of quarters."

Just then Rev. Edmund Joyce, vice president of Notre Dame, came up to shake Duffy's hand.

"Duffy, you rascal," said Father Joyce. "Another quarter and who knows what might have happened?"

"That's what I just said, Father, we ran out of quarters, I hope we can pick up where we left off next year—but not on the four-yard line."

In the Notre Dame dressing room, Coach Ara Parseghian sang the praises of both teams.

"I had to congratulate Duffy after the game for the way his team played," said Parseghian, "especially when you consider all the circumstances. Injuries, discipline, plus the fact they were losing 24-0 but battled back. It was a great job."

"I am extremely pleased with the improvement our club is showing week to week," said Parseghian. "Our running game got going against Illinois last week and continued this week. We netted 379 yards and 280 came on rushing."

"I'm really very, very happy with this team," said Ara. "The boys bounced back from the Purdue loss and they came back again from the Southern Cal loss. It could have been the other way. Remember, we have no conference championship to play for and no bowl game to shoot at. All we can do is get into the top 10 rankings. That's our only goal and the boys are doing a good job."

A year ago when top-ranked Notre Dame and No. 2 MSU tied 10-10 nobody was happy because of failure to settle who really belonged on top. This time it was a different story. There was no issue at stake but a bunch of kids from Michigan State refused to crumble against staked odds.

PRINCIPALIA 45, ROSE POLY 7
ELSAH, Ill. (AP) — The Principia Indians smashed the Rose Poly Engineers from Terre Haute, Ind., 45-7 Saturday. It was Principia's fourth victory against one loss and one tie, and Rose Poly's fourth loss along with no wins, two ties.

The Indians drew first blood on a 38-yard first quarter run by Dave Neal. Rose Poly came back with a 10-yard touchdown pass from Chuck Hills to Mike Mefford.

The Indians then poured it on with a touchdown run by Chris McKay, two by Dave Jackson, and another by Bill Stitt. The final tally came on a pass from Doug Linton to Ed Dyck.

Reserve Leads USC Past Oregon, 28-6

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Reserve halfback Steve Grady entered the game in the third period for injured O. J. Simpson and led top ranked Southern California to a 28-6 Pacific-8 victory Saturday over Oregon before 48,807 at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Simpson was removed from the game four minutes into the third period with an injured ankle, but the nation's No. 1 team had little trouble with the visiting Ducks.

Grady, a senior who has seen little action in three years, gained 108 yards in 18 carries and scored one touchdown.

His first score was a neat 11-yard burst up the middle with 1:46 gone in the fourth quarter. He was hit three times on the play and just made it into the end zone.

The victory, though, was a work of art for the defense. Oregon was able to gain only 25 yards and one first down in the entire first half. Only once in the first three periods did the Ducks penetrate Trojan territory—soon after halftime when Oregon got to the USC 47.

Simpson, who played the entire first half, gained 63 yards in 23 carries, but it was quarterback Steve Sogge's passing that led to both Trojan first half scores and a 14-0 intermission lead.

On the first play of the second period, Sogge hit flanker Jim Lawrence with a swing pass and Lawrence raced 30 yards to the Duck 13.

On third down, with goal to go on the Oregon eight, Sogge fired a pass to end Bob Klein for the score. Rikki Aldridge converted and USC led 7-0.

Playing before a record homecoming crowd of 15,500 the Salukis, now 2-5, threw up a spirited defense in the second half, with Quillen breaking up the aerial attack. After intercepting a Greg Barton pass, SIU's Galloway booted his third field goal, this time from the 31.

Tulsa was plagued by injuries at key positions. In the second quarter tight end Robbie Nichols suffered a knee injury and Harry Wood played the game with a broken rib.

Zimmerman Aids Irish Over MSU

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Sophomore Jeff Zimmerman scored three touchdowns, one on a zig-zagging 47-yard run, to pace relentless Notre Dame to a 24-12 football victory over trouble-beset Michigan State Saturday.

Zimmerman also bolted seven yards, capping an 84-yard march, for Notre Dame's first touchdown and grabbed a 30-yard scoring pass from Terry Hanratty, giving the Irish a 17-0 halftime lead.

The nationally televised contest bore faint resemblance to last year's classic 10-10 Irish-Spartan deadlock at East Lansing, Mich. Injury and suspension-wracked MSU failed to score until only 10 minutes remained, with Dwight Lee smashing the final two yards of a 54-yard drive.

A few minutes later, the Spartans struck again after recovering an Irish fumble on Notre Dame's 33 and scored on a six-yard pass from emergency quarterback Bill Feraco to end Frank Waters.

Not until the final quarter could Michigan State, its lineup patched to replace injured quarterback Jimmy Raye and six players suspended for a curfew violation, carry the battle to the hard-hitting Irish.

Over the first three quarters in which Notre Dame built a 24-0 lead, which also included a 32-yard field goal by Joe Azaro in the second quarter, Michigan State crossed midfield only twice, reaching the Irish 39 in the second period and ND's 18 in the third.

In notching its fourth victory against setbacks by top-ranked Southern California and Purdue, Notre Dame scored on touchdown drive of 34, 41 and 82 yards. They were a mixture of Hanratty's timely passing and the strong running of Zimmerman, Rocky Bleier and Bob Gladieux.

Patterson Beaten On Split Decision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's Jerry Quarry bounced former two-time champion Floyd Patterson out of the world heavyweight boxing eliminations Saturday by winning a split and controversial 12-round decision.

The 22-year-old Quarry floored the 32-year-old Patterson for mandatory eight counts in the second and fourth rounds before losing to the popular bomber from nearby Bellflower.

Referee Vern Bybee from San Francisco, who was brought down as an outsider to officiate, scored the fight a draw with each fighter receiving six points.

Bybee was overruled, however, when judges Lee Grossman and Joey Olmos gave it to Quarry 7-6.

The Associated Press had it 6-6.

The nationally televised rematch—the two fought a 10-round draw in Los Angeles on June 9—drew a disappointing crowd in the Olympic Auditorium of well less than its 10,000 capacity.

Patterson was given a warm ovation when he entered the ring but Quarry obviously had the partisan support of his Southern California backers.

Neither fighter was visibly marked but it was a vicious fight in which three times neither would back away when the bell sounded and it took heroic efforts by the referee to separate them.

Quarry dumped Patterson in the second round with a right to the side of the jaw. Patterson went backwards to the seat of his pants and bounced up quickly. The mandatory eight count was tolled off.

In the fourth, Quarry, a dangerous young man with either hand, unleashed a volley of blows and it appeared a solid right to the body caused the most damage and Patterson's second downfall. Floyd was up again quickly.

Patterson, from New York, weighed 195 and Quarry 193 at fight time.

California's scoring awards the winner of a round from one to five points, the loser none and an even round is marked zero for each.

Midway in the fight, Quarry, much the stronger and a take-over fighter for this one up to this point, was well ahead. But Patterson began to find the range with his rights and lefts, concentrating almost entirely to the head.

In the ninth, for some reason, Quarry elected to dance around with both hands lowered. The carelessness did not go unnoticed by Floyd. He quickly landed two hard left hand smashes to the head.

In the final seconds of the round, Quarry lashed out with both hands but Patterson's defensive screen caught most of the blows on his arms and shoulders.

Both Sides Happy With 'The Game'

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — This time there was a winner and there was a loser and everybody was happy.

Notre Dame was supposed to win and did. Michigan State was expected to be routed but fought back like a champion and went down by the respectable score of 24-12.

MSU Coach Duffy Daugherty was beaming in defeat and announced that he had reinstated the six players he had suspended for disciplinary reasons last week.

"I reinstated them yesterday," said Daugherty, "but I told them they couldn't play in this game and I'm still not naming them."

"Notre Dame obviously was the much better team," said Daugherty, "but I'm pleased with the way the boys came back in the fourth quarter. Then we ran out of quarters."

Just then Rev. Edmund Joyce, vice president of Notre Dame, came up to shake Duffy's hand.

"Duffy, you rascal," said Father Joyce. "Another quarter and who knows what might have happened?"

"That's what I just said, Father, we ran out of quarters. I hope we can pick up where we left off next year—but not on the four-yard line."

In the Notre Dame dressing room, Coach Ara Parseghian sang the praises of both teams.

"I had to congratulate Duffy after the game for the way his team played," said Parseghian, "especially when you consider all the circumstances. Injuries, discipline, plus the fact they were losing 24-0 but battled back. It was a great job."

"I am extremely pleased with the improvement our club is showing week to week," said Parseghian. "Our running game got going against Illinois last week and continued this week. We netted 379 yards and 280 came on rushing."

"I'm really very, very happy with this team," said Ara. "The boys bounced back from the Purdue loss and they came back again from the Southern Cal loss. It could have been the other way. Remember, we have no conference championship to play for and no bowl game to shoot at. All we can do is get into the top 10 rankings. That's our only goal and the boys are doing a good job."

A year ago when top-ranked Notre Dame and No. 2 MSU tied 10-10 nobody was happy because of failure to settle who really belonged on top. This time it was a different story. There was no issue at stake but a bunch of kids from Michigan State refused to crumble against stacked odds.

ELSAH, Ill. (AP) — The Principals Indians smashed the Rose Poly Engineers from Terre Haute, Ind., 45-7 Saturday. It was Principals' fourth victory against one loss and one tie, and Rose Poly's fourth loss along with no wins, two ties.

The Indians drew first blood on a 38-yard first quarter run by Dave Neal. Rose Poly came back with a 10-yard touchdown pass from Chuck Hills to Mike Meford.

The Indians then poured it on with a touchdown run by Chris McKay, two by Dave Jackson, and another by Bill Stitt. The final tally came on a pass from Doug Linton to Ed Dyck.

Mississippi Upsets Rated Houston 14-13

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi's Rebels rose to defensive heights Saturday and stymied ninth-ranked Houston's potent offense, whipping the Cougars 14-13.

A missed extra point kick by Houston's Ken Hebert in the fourth quarter kept the Cougars from salvaging a tie.

Ole Miss linebacker Jimmy Keyes, a defensive stalwart, provided the margin of victory for the Rebels with his conversions after two touchdown passes by quarterback Bruce Newell.

A fumble recovery set up the first Ole Miss touchdown in the second quarter when the Rebels were behind 7-0. The second Rebel score came in the third period when Hank Shows wrestled the ball away from a Houston defender who had gotten his hands on Newell's 37-yard pass.

The game was a battle of magnificent line play until Ole Miss began to assert offensive superiority in the late stages and controlled the ball much of the crucial fourth period.

Quarterback Dick Woodall kept the Houston attack going with his quick passes and his slick handoffs to a bevy of fine backs for more than two quarters. Houston gave the appearance of a team that might break loose at anytime.

But when Ole Miss went ahead in the third quarter, the Rebel defensive unit got a new spark and kept the Cougars in check the rest of the way.

Damascus Burns Up The Track

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Writer
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Frank Whiteley, quiet, graying trainer of America's finest race horse, put his face to the stall screen in barn 16 at Belmont Park and peered in.

"Damascus," he said to a visitor, "is a fine athlete. He takes good care of himself. He knows how to preserve his energy. Every chance he gets, he naps."

The three-year-old bay colt was taking a respite from cozing. He was leisurely consuming his lunch, which consisted of the usual fare of unseasoned hay.

"Some horses are stall walkers, others stand and weave, but Damascus just rests his bones," said Whiteley. "He saves all his energy for running."

A few stalls down stood — rather grayed — Hedevar.

"Now that's a pretty good horse," said Whiteley, walking along the dirt-and-straw-strewn path. "But he'll give you an ulcer. There he is snoring and shakin' his whole body half the time. He won a good race recently, but he can wear himself out just standing around. Before a race, he gets nervous and bounces all day."

Damascus this year won the Belmont and Preakness and beat Buckpasser by 10 lengths in the Woodward. He has won 11 of 14 races as a three-year-old, and three of four as a two-year-old. He has never been worse than third—and that only once, in the Kentucky Derby.

"When he has lost," said Whiteley, "he just wasn't himself. The Derby was the biggest disappointment. He was really shook up. It was probably all the commotion that week."

"Some writers said they thought the singing of 'My Old Kentucky Home' upset him. If that's true, then 'Maryland, My Maryland' at the Preakness soothed him."

Whiteley said that Damascus' biggest victory was probably the $107,000 Woodward at Aqueduct Sept. 30.

"I just never thought he was that good," he said. "This is a funny business. It takes time to find out what kind of class your horse has. And even then you can be surprised."

"Look at Proud Clarion. He won the Derby. He hasn't done a thing since. And last spring it looked like Buckpasser was unbeatable."

Damascus is scheduled to race in the $100,000-added, two-mile Jockey Gold Cup at Aqueduct Oct. 28, then the $150,000, 1 1/2-

Illini-Purdue Rivalry Always A Wild Contest

CHAMPAIGN — When the University of Illinois and Purdue University meet on the gridiron it might be better if the prognosticators took a holiday. At least that seems to be the case in recent years of the series which dates to 1890.

The Illini and Boilermakers clash again this Saturday at Memorial Stadium in Champaign and Purdue will undoubtedly be a heavy favorite. But the Boilermakers were rated a two-touchdown or better favorite last year and had to come from behind with twin six-pointers in the fourth quarter in order to salvage a 25-21 victory.

The two teams have met 48 times, Illinois winning 23, losing 19 and six games have ended in ties.

Underdog Illinois drove 80 yards with the opening kickoff at Lafayette last year and had the Boilermakers on their heels for most of the game. The Illini led 21-10 after three quarters. But All American quarterback Bob Griese rallied his team in the final 15 minutes. He passed for two touchdowns in the fourth period, the winning score coming on a 32-yard completion with just 1:21 left in the game.

The last time the two clubs met in Champaign the Illini won a 21-0 upset. The Boilermakers were 4-1-1 when they came to Champaign in 1965 and Illinois had a 3-3 mark. An inspired Illini defense allowed Purdue but eight yards rushing in the first half. Quarterback Fred Custardo passed to Ron Bess for one touchdown and fullback Jim Graborski scored on a one-yard plunge to give Illinois a 13-0 halftime edge. End Bob Batchelder stole the ball from quarterback Griese at the Illini 12 and returned it 53 yards to set up the final Illini score.

Werkau, Pass Duo Too Much For JHS

SPRINGFIELD — The junior passing combination of Ron Riecks to Rial Flesher combined for two touchdowns and 125 yards, and fullback Frank Werkau ground out 106 yards rushing as Springfield Lanphier handed Jacksonville its third loss of the season, 21-6, here Friday evening.

The Lanphier defense held Jacksonville to its lowest offensive total of the season, a sum of only 102 net yards, as the Lions upped their Capital Conference mark to 3-1 and their overall mark to 5-2. JHS now stands 1-3 and 2-3-2 on the year.

Werkau, a 215-pound senior who picked up 106 yards in 21 carries, raced ten yards for a first quarter touchdown. Then Riecks passed ten and 17 yards to Flesher for second-half scores that settled the outcome.

Down 7-0 at halftime, Jacksonville fought back into contention with a third-period score that cut the margin to 7-6 with Jim Bruner running seven yards for the touchdown.

Riecks hit eight of 13 passes without an interception, with all his completions going to the 190-pound Flesher. Jacksonville defended 9.7 sprinter Harold Johnson to only 48 yards in 12 tries, but could not hold Werkau.

Jacksonville ripped off two quick first downs right after the opening kickoff, with Rod Simonds legging ten and John Mathews 12, but Benny Richardson's fumble was recovered on the Lanphier 35 three plays later.

Lions Break Ice
From there the host Lions moved 65 yards in nine plays, with a face mask penalty against the Crimson and a 16-yard scamper by Johnson doing most of the damage. Werkau moved it in from the ten and Bill Ingersoll booted the point after for a 7-0 Lanphier lead with 4:40 to play in the first.

The remainder of the first period and most of the second was played in Lanphier territory, with JHS punter Steve Gaudio giving Jacksonville field position most of the time, getting off one 52-yarder to the Lions' nine.

On the last series of the first half Lanphier moved from their own 11 into scoring range, with Riecks hitting Flesher three times for a total of 66 yards, the last one moving the ball to the Jacksonville nine before time ran out.

Gaudio fell on a Werkau fumble at the Lanphier 44 early in the second half and Jacksonville moved in for their only score of the evening. Duane Mounts hit end Tom Phillips on a quick jump pass for eight and a first down to the 28 and three plays later duplicated the shot for eight more to the 13. Two plays later Bruner swept left end for the score. Mounts' kick for the PAT sailed with 6:58 to play in the frame.

Lions Came Back
Lanphier came right back with a 72-yard scoring march that took up 11 plays. Werkau was the workhorse in the march, carrying the ball five times. Riecks hit Flesher twice more for 26 yards, the last one a ten-yard scoring toss. Ingersoll again split the up-rights for a 14-6 difference with 1:51 left in the period.

JHS had its final opportunity to get back into contention early in the fourth, picking up a fumble by Werkau on the Lanphier 27. However, Richardson lost ten on a running attempt and two passes fell short.

With time running out Lanphier moved 62 yards in only five plays for the final score. A pass interference call gave Lanphier a first at the Jacksonville 39 and Johnson gained 16 to the 21. Two plays later Riecks again found Flesher, for a 17-yard scoring flip. Ingersoll closed out the scoring with his third PAT conversion.

Five of them came out to Shea Stadium Friday to pick up pointers. Some enterprising publicist decided this was an event to be preserved for posterity, so every photographer worth his film was on hand.

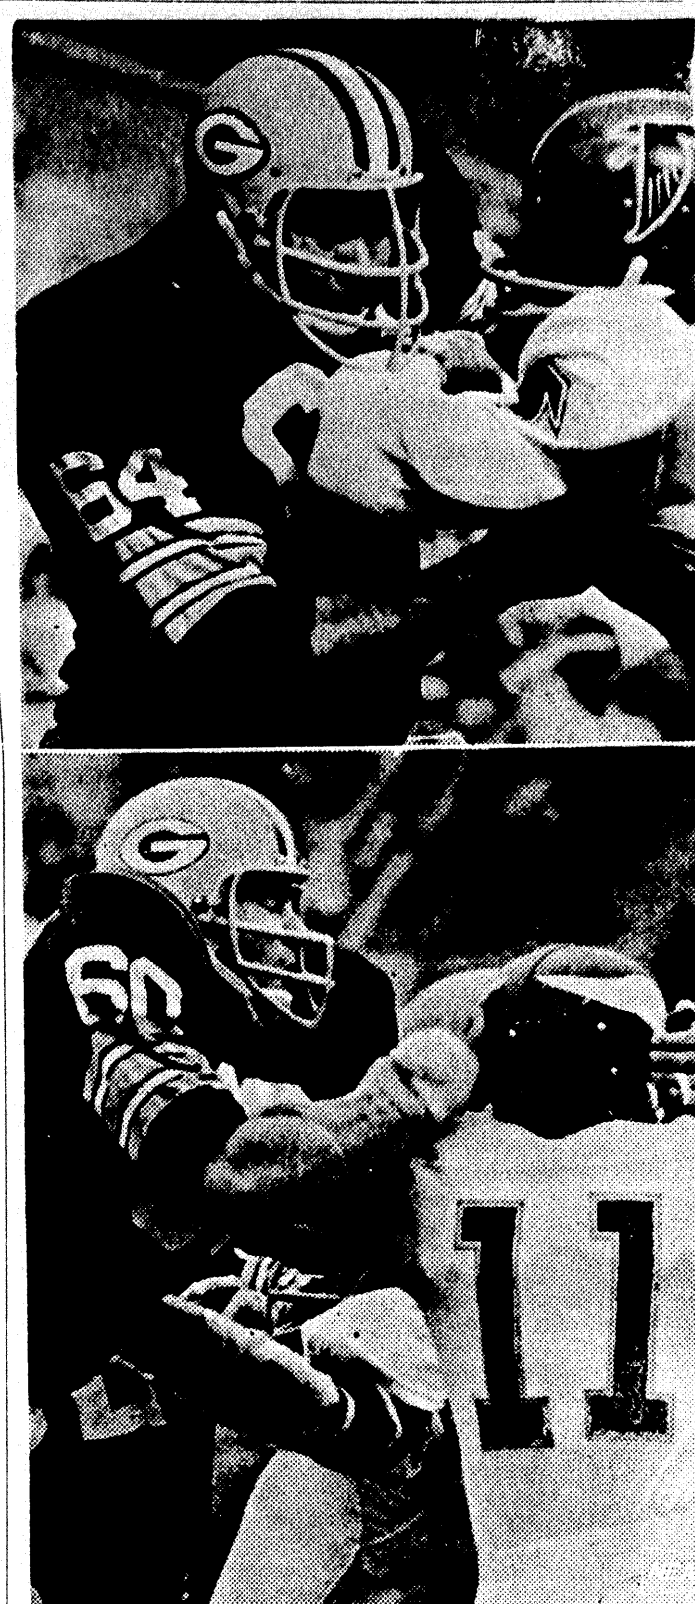

"You have to look higher, Joe," one cameraman admonished, trying for the right picture.

"That's tough," Joe replied glumly.

Manager Frederick A. Mansulla, 28, of Brockton in the Cranberry League, told a jury he did bite the umpire, Edgar J. Pidgeon, during an argument over a called third strike. He said Pidgeon twisted his thumb.

Pidgeon testified he grabbed Mansulla's thumb to keep from falling "after I was pushed by someone."

The jury acquitted the manager.

THE GOLDEN RULE, according to Vince Lombardi, is in full evidence in these recent NFL action photos. Green Bay's strategy of do unto others before they do unto you is portrayed, top, by Packer guard Jerry Kramer (64) as he whips a crunching block on a rushing Atlanta Falcon defender and by linebacker Lee Roy Caffey (60) as he attempts to use Minnesota Viking quarterback Joe Kapp as a corkscrew. Kapp managed to keep his head, however, and he and his mates went on to upset the Pack.

Hawks Take Step At IVC Title 20-0

PLEASANT HILL — Undeclared Carrollton took a big step towards the Illinois Valley Conference title with a 20-0 victory over Pleasant Hill, here Friday evening.

The win gives Carrollton a 4-0-1 IVC mark with only Greenfield left on the conference schedule. Southwestern, the only other unbeaten IVC team, was held to a 6-6 tie by Greenfield Friday, leaving the Birds with a 2-0-2 record. The Hawks are 6-0-1 overall while Pleasant Hill stands at 3-3-1 on the year and 0-2-2 in league activity.

Junior quarterback Mark Frech guided the Hawks to victory, passing for all three touchdowns.

Frech hit end Mike Price on a 20-yard scoring toss in the opening period for all the scoring in the first half.

Frech connected for eight yards with Tom Carmody in the third round, with Price booting the extra point. Frech hit Kim Hopkins on a 25-yard scoring toss in the final stanza. Price again added the PAT.

Pleasant Hill held a statistical edge in two departments, 12-8 on first downs and 218-120 in the rushing area. Frech hit eight of 13 passes for 133 yards, while Pleasant Hill managed only 30 yards in the air on three of nine.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Red Schoendienst was rehired Friday to manage the St. Louis Cardinals in 1968, but the pilot of the world champions will have only a one-year contract with a substantial hike in pay.

President August A. Busch Jr., in announcing that Schoendienst had agreed to terms, said the National League club was continuing its policy of one-year contracts. Estimates placed the 1966 salary figure at about $45,000.

Schoendienst said his wife, Mary, was disappointed because he did not receive a two-year contract, but added, "I was told that the ball club was sticking to its policy of one-year contracts."

General Manager Stan Musial, who does not have a contract with the Cardinals in his position, said Schoendienst has "a very good contract...he had a great season and we're all happy."

Estimates placed Schoendienst's 1967 salary in the $30,000 range, indicating a $15,000 raise. In his two previous seasons, his contract was renewed before the season ended although the club was in the second division.

Some FIGHT, SOME BITE

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) — Umpires and ball club managers often seem to bark at one another during their arguments. But what happens if the manager bites?

Manager Frederick A. Mansulla, 28, of Brockton in the Cranberry League, told a jury he did bite the umpire, Edgar J. Pidgeon, during an argument over a called third strike. He said Pidgeon twisted his thumb.

Pidgeon testified he grabbed Mansulla's thumb to keep from falling "after I was pushed by someone."

The jury acquitted the manager.

Werkau, Pass Duo Too Much For JHS

SPRINGFIELD — The junior passing combination of Ron Riecks to Rial Flesher combined for two touchdowns and 125 yards, and fullback Frank Werkau ground out 106 yards rushing as Springfield Lanphier handed Jacksonville its third loss of the season, 21-6, here Friday evening.

The Lanphier defense held Jacksonville to its lowest offensive total of the season, a sum of only 102 net yards, as the Lions upped their Capital Conference mark to 3-1 and their overall mark to 5-2. JHS now stands 1-3 and 2-3-2 on the year.

Werkau, a 215-pound senior who picked up 106 yards in 21 carries, raced ten yards for a first quarter touchdown. Then Riecks passed ten and 17 yards to Flesher for second-half scores that settled the outcome.

Down 7-0 at halftime, Jacksonville fought back into contention with a third-period score that cut the margin to 7-6 with Jim Bruner running seven yards for the touchdown.

Riecks hit eight of 13 passes without an interception, with all his completions going to the 190-pound Flesher. Jacksonville defended 9.7 sprinter Harold Johnson to only 48 yards in 12 tries, but could not hold Werkau.

Johnson ripped off two quick first downs right after the opening kickoff, with Rod Simonds legging ten and John Mathews 12, but Benny Richardson's fumble was recovered on the Lanphier 35 three plays later.

Lions Break Ice

From there the host Lions moved 65 yards in nine plays, with a face mask penalty against the Crimson and a 16-yard scamper by Johnson doing most of the damage. Werkau moved it in from the ten and Bill Ingersoll booted the point after for a 7-0 Lanphier lead with 4:40 to play in the first.

The remainder of the first period and most of the second was played in Lanphier territory, with JHS punter Steve Gaudio giving Jacksonville field position most of the time, getting off one 52-yarder to the Lions' nine.

On the last series of the first half Lanphier moved from their own 11 into scoring range, with Riecks hitting Flesher three times for a total of 66 yards, the last one moving the ball to the Jacksonville nine before time ran out.

Gaudio fell on a Werkau fumble at the Lanphier 44 early in the second half and Jacksonville moved in for their only score of the evening.

Duane Mounts hit end Tom Phillips on a quick jump pass for eight and a first down to the 28 and three plays later duplicated the shot for eight more to the 13. Two plays later Bruner swept left end for the score. Mounts' kick for the PAT sailed with 6:58 to play in the frame.

Lanphier came back with a 72-yard scoring march that took up 11 plays. Werkau was the workhorse in the march, carrying the ball five times. Riecks hit Flesher twice more for 26 yards, the last one a ten-yard scoring toss. Ingersoll again split the uprights for a 14-6 difference with 1:51 left in the period.

JHS had its final opportunity to get back into contention early in the fourth, picking up a fumble by Werkau on the Lanphier 27. However, Richardson lost ten on a running attempt and two passes fell short.

With time running out Lanphier moved 62 yards in only five plays for the final score. A pass interference call gave Lanphier a first at the Jacksonville 39 and Johnson gained 16 to the 21. Two plays later Riecks again found Flesher, for a 17-yard scoring flip. Ingersoll closed out the scoring with his third PAT conversion.

The

Griese And Flipper Toss For Attention

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Writer
NEW YORK (NEA)— In this make-believe world where streets are named for national heroes like Arthur Godfrey and Ed Sullivan, where the natives render tribal rites to the sun and where a performing porpoise handles a football as well as some local gridders—it's into this world that a tow-haired Hoosier has been thrust.

It was hardly like this back home in Indiana, where Bob Griese is from. Yet the rookie Miami Dolphin quarterback has caught the drift of the dream life: He is trying to make a winner out of a loser and thus divert the love of the residents from the dolphin Flipper to the Dolphin footballers.

An example of what he combats occurred recently. The Dolphins, last in the American Football League's Eastern Division, were behind at the half, 24-0, to the New York Jets, division leaders.

Griese had not played since spraining his right, or throwing, shoulder, three games before. He started the second half, taking over for Rick Norton, and the club began to move. They even scored a touchdown, even two touchdowns. He passed 10 yards for the second TD, which brought a round of applause from the fans. The spectators, though, saved their true excitement for Flipper, who stays in a tank behind one goal post. The extra point kick dropped into the water and Flipper caught it in his jaws and tossed it out. A roar of joy went up from the stands.

Griese, like Flipper, has the intangible of motivating people.

"He can lift a team," said Miami coach George Wilson, "it's just something you're born with. And that's what a pro quarterback needs. He may not be as strong or accurate as thrower as some, but he's got a good football mind and that certain something extra."

Miami end Doug Moreau agrees. "You're in the huddle and he calls a play," said Moreau, "and he gives you the feeling it's going to work. John Stofa (injured Dolphin quarterback) has the same qualities. Rick (Norton) is a good quarterback, too. But people have been down on him so long, he doesn't impart the spark."

A quarterback has problems of leadership. Griese's are compounded because he is (1) a rookie, and (2) with a losing club.

"I have confidence," said Griese, "and the other guys feel it when I come in the game."

"You've got to let them all know you're the boss. Even if you're a rookie. I went through all that rookie razzing in training camp—like getting up and singing my school song. Off the field they still needle me. But not on the field."

"If guys are talking in the huddle, I tell them to shut up. They respect that. When I call a play I use a strong tone of voice, as if to say, 'This play will work.' Not 'Let's pray this works.'"

"They don't resent a rookie talking this way. They've been in football long enough to understand the quarterback's authority. Like Preston Carpenter, our tight end. This is his 12th pro season. He's like a father to me. We play golf a lot and talk football and I agree with him."

"Then a situation comes up in a game. We have the ball at the right hash marks. I call a square-out to Pres. 'We don't have much sideline.' I say, 'O.K.' he says, 'I'll delay.'"

Keeping a losing team "up" presents other problems. But that is one of Miami's difficulties. It plays next week's game today. Flipper plays 'em one at a time.

'Showdown Sunday' Set In AFL's West

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)— It's Showdown Sunday in the American Football League's Western division where Oakland and San Diego shoot it out for first place.

Darryl Lamonica, it says here, will shoot straighter than John Hadl and the Raiders will knock off the Chargers and move into the top spot.

And when Baltimore, leaders in the NFL's Coastal Division, beats Washington, the Colts will be pro football's last undefeated team.

Here we go again, with all games Sunday except where indicated:

Oakland 27, San Diego 21 — The Raiders survived their all-ways tough three-game road trip and Lamonica has settled down into a fine quarterback.

The Chargers looked shaky beating Denver last week.

Anderson hit Paul Andre on a 29-yard scoring toss and Norm Ayer for 17 yards.

NC State Rips Duke, 28-7, To Stay Undefeated

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Quarterback Jim Donnan threw two touchdown passes as unbeaten North Carolina State bombed Duke 28-7 Saturday before a record crowd of 44,000, including scouts from three major bowls.

State, ranked fifth nationally in The Associated Press poll, scored two touchdowns in the first period, one in the second and another in the fourth in posting its seventh consecutive victory.

Scouts from the Sugar, Orange and Gator bowls saw the Wolfpack's tough defense hold Atlantic Coast Conference rival Duke to only 87 yards rushing.

An NCAA regulation forbids the bowls from signing teams for post-season games prior to Nov. 20.

Duke, 3-4 for the season, rolled 51 yards for its third period touchdown with Frank Ryan going around left end from the one.

A 39-yard punt return by Fred Combs to Duke's 15 set up State's first touchdown in the first period. Four plays carried to the two, from where halfback Tony Barchuk dived over for the score. Leon Mason romped 22 yards later in the period to make it 14-0.

State got its third touchdown early in the second period when Donnan hit end Harry Martell on a 15-yard pass to cap a 45-yard drive. Duke took the next kickoff and drove to State's six. The Wolfpack defense dug in and the Blue Devils had to give up the ball on the eight.

State's final touchdown came with 3:24 left on a 14-yard pass from Donnan to end Don Donaldson. The drive had started on Duke's 47.

Late Field Goal Lets Tennessee Notch 17-14 Win

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Carl Kremser kicked a 33-yard field goal with a minute left Saturday to give fourth-ranked Tennessee a 17-14 football victory over Louisiana State.

The triumph put Tennessee in undisputed possession of first place in the Southeastern Conference championship race with a 3-0 league record. The Vols are now 4-1 overall. LSU went home with a 4-2 mark.

The issue in the hard-fought battle was in doubt until the final 30 seconds when LSU's Roy Hurd attempted a 30-yard field goal which sailed off to the right.

Tennessee forged ahead 14-0 on short touchdown runs by quarterback Dewey Warren and tailback Walter Chadwick.

But LSU's Sammy Grenaffi electrified the sellout crowd of 54,596 by returning the Tennessee kickoff after the second Vol TD 100 yards for a touchdown.

The run down the right sidelines set a kickoff return record for LSU, shattering the old mark of 99 set by J.W. Broadnax against Florida in 1957.

Hurd kicked the first of two extra points.

Grenaffi's run gave the Tigers new life and they proceeded to march 70 yards for the tying counter late in the fourth period with quarterback Nelson Stokely racing over from the 14.

LSU 0 0 7 7-14

Johnny Unitas completed 2-006 passes for 29,593 yards in 11 National Football League seasons with the Baltimore Colts.

Griese And Flipper Toss For Attention

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Writer

NEW YORK (NEA)—In this make-believe world where streets are named for national heroes like Arthur Godfrey and Ed Sullivan, where the natives render tribal rites to the sun and where a performing porpoise handles a football as well as some local gridders—it's into this world that a tow-haired Hoosier has been thrust.

It was hardly like this back home in Indiana, where Bob Griese is from. Yet the rookie Miami Dolphin quarterback has caught the drift of the dream life: He is trying to make a winner out of a loser and thus divert the love of the residents from the dolphin Flipper to the Dolphin footballers.

An example of what he combats occurred recently. The Dolphins, last in the American Football League's Eastern Division, were behind at the half, 24-0, to the New York Jets, division leaders.

Griese had not played since spraining his right, or throwing, shoulder, three games before. He started the second half, taking over for Rick Norton, and the club began to move. They even scored a touchdown, even two touchdowns.

He passed 10 yards for the second TD, which brought a round of applause from the fans. The spectators, though, saved their true excitement for Flipper, who stays in a tank behind one goal post. The extra point kick dropped into the water and Flipper caught it in his jaws and tossed it out. A roar of joy went up from the stands.

Griese, like Flipper, has the intangible of motivating people.

"He can lift a team," said Miami coach George Wilson, "it's just something you're born with. And that's what a pro quarterback needs. He may not be as strong or accurate as thrower as some, but he's got a good football mind and that certain something extra."

Miami end Doug Moreau agrees. "You're in the huddle and he calls a play," said Moreau, "and he gives you the feeling it's going to work. John Stofa (injured Dolphin quarterback) has the same qualities. Rick (Norton) is a good quarterback, too. But people have been down on him so long, he doesn't impart the spark."

A quarterback has problems of leadership. Griese's are compounded because he is (1) a rookie, and (2) with a losing club.

"I have confidence," said Griese, "and the other guys feel it when I come in the game."

"You've got to let them all know you're the boss. Even if you're a rookie. I went through all that rookie razzing in training camp—like getting up and singing my school song. Off the field they still needle me. But not on the field."

"If guys are talking in the huddle, I tell them to shut up. They respect that. When I call a play I use a strong tone of voice, as if to say, 'This play will work.' Not 'Let's pray this works.'"

"They don't resent a rookie talking this way. They've been in football long enough to understand the quarterback's authority. Like Preston Carpenter, our tight end. This is his 12th pro season. He's like a father to me. We play golf a lot and talk football and I agree with him."

"Then a situation comes up in a game. We have the ball at the right hash marks. I call a square-out to Pres. 'We don't have much sideline,' I say. 'O.K.,' he says, 'I'll delay.'"

Keeping a losing team "up" presents other problems. But that is one of Miami's difficulties. It plays next week's game today. Flipper plays 'em one at a time.

'Showdown Sunday' Set In AFL's West

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It's Showdown Sunday in the American Football League's Western division where Oakland and San Diego shoot it out for first place.

Darryle Lamonia, it says here, will shoot straighter than John Hadl and the Raiders will knock off the Chargers and move into the top spot.

And when Baltimore, leaders in the NFL's Coastal Division, beats Washington, the Colts will be pro football's last undefeated team.

Last week's 6-4-2 record brought the season's log to 42-22 for .656.

Here we go again, with all games Sunday except where indicated:

AFL
Oakland 27, San Diego 21—

The Raiders survived their always tough three-game road trip and Lamonia has settled down into a fine quarterback. The Chargers looked shaky beating Denver last week.

New York 24, Boston 20—The Patriots always have been tough for the Jets but New York can smell that Eastern Division title.

Bonus predictions: Joe Namath to set consecutive completions record. He finished last Sunday with 12 straight against Miami, just three shy of the mark.

Kansas City 35, Denver 20—Breaks can't keep going against the Chiefs forever. They could get healthy in a hurry against the Rams.

Minnesota 17, Atlanta 7—The Vikings have a victory and a tie in their last two starts and finally may be jelling. Atlanta peaked by tying Washington two weeks ago but fell apart last Sunday against Detroit.

Pittsburgh 27, New Orleans 17—Pick Pitt to end a six-game slide against winless Saints in this so-called match of have-nots.

Green Bay 36, St. Louis 10—Monday night — The Packers broke loose for 33 points in the second half against New York last Sunday but they'll need the whole game to reach that total against the tougher Cardinal defense. Bart Starr is healthy again and so is Green Bay.

Los Angeles 24, Chicago 7—The Bears' puncheon offense has produced just 57 points in six games and things don't figure to get better against the Rams.

San Francisco 28, Detroit 17—The 49ers must win to keep pace with Baltimore in the Coastal race. John Brodie will see that they do.

In 1853 New Orleans had a population of 120,000, and 27,143 cases of yellow fever, of which about one-third terminated fatally. The present epidemic is very much milder, and the mortality, proportionately, only one-tenth as heavy.

REFERENDUM FOR EXTENSION NOV. 7, 1967

The Extension Service which conducts educational programs for farmers and homemakers and others including the 4H Programs is financed by Federal, State and local funds.

The referendum on Nov. 7 seeks approval of a tax rate of 1 cent per $100 valuation by Morgan County voters. This would amount to an increase of thirty cents for each $100 in taxes now paid.

The funds raised locally would be used for local services such as rent, telephone, office supplies, postage, a portion of the extension advisers' travel and a portion of the secretarial salaries.

The salary of the advisers would be paid from state and federal funds as would a portion of the travel and secretarial salaries.

If no local funds are available (matching it's called) no state and federal funds are allocated to a county for extension work. If approved, the funds raised would be spent under the direction of a board composed of two members from the Agricultural Extension Council, two members from the Home Economics Extension Council and three members appointed by the Morgan County Commissioners.

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:

Our Catholic friends of this city are preparing to hold a Church Fair at Strawn's Hall, on November 12th and 13th. All proceeds are to be applied in aid of building a new church edifice.

NOTE TO FARMERS — We will send the Prairie Farmer and the SENTINEL for one year for $3.50.

The Franklin Fire company, of this place, have received their new hose and are now fully equipped for service.

We learn that the water in the Insane Hospital reservoir has failed, the supply for the institution having to be drawn from wells. The Mauvaisterre, from which the reservoir is supplied, is just now dry as a powder house.

THE GREAT WEST BY RAIL — We learn that our contemporary, Col. G. P. Smith, has made arrangements with a Chicago publishing house for issuing an early day a book with the above title.

From the Carrollton Gazette: The Germans had a fine time at Union Hall on Monday evening last, we are told.

A protracted meeting is going on at the Christian church in this place, we believe.

We are informed that Mr. Stephen Smith runs a hack to the depot to meet every passenger train, day or night, and that he will call at any house in the city for passengers. Orders are to be left at the Mansion House.

We are pained to learn that our old friend, Dr. John Cox, well known in this community as a very worthy old gentleman, is lying dangerously ill at Naples, in this State.

Among our new advertisements will be found a number of Chancery Sales, which may prove interesting to many of our readers. Peruse them.

From the Beardstown Central Illinoisian:

The paper manufacturing company are succeeding admirably in their business thus far. At a recent meeting for the purpose of fully organizing the company Thomas H. Carter was elected President. They start with a capital stock of nearly twenty-five thousand dollars. The real estate embraces ample accommodations, in a choice part of the city. The principal part of the machinery is already in the building.

We have just one more farm to sell. We have not failed to sell every one of them that has been advertised in the Illinoisian this season. Unless some farmerly disposed person calls around and relieves us of this one pretty soon, it will die on our hands and that would be awful. Drap around somebody, will you please, huh?

Dirksen To Address 53rd Annual Meeting Of IAA In Chicago

United States Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen will be featured speaker at the 1967 annual meeting of the Illinois Agricultural Association set for Nov. 13-16 in Chicago at the Sherman House. Senator Dirksen will address the Wednesday evening, Nov. 15, general session.

The IAA annual meeting is the culmination of the Farm Bureau policy development process which began early this past summer in communities throughout Illinois. IAA is made up of 99 county Farm Bureaus and, with a membership of 192,843 families, is the largest state Farm Bureau in the nation. About 3,500 farmers and their wives will attend the meeting. Some 500 delegates will decide Farm Bureau policy for the coming year.

Other speakers on the IAA annual meeting program include U.S. Representative John B. Anderson from Rockford, who will take part in a conference on Nov. 14 which will feature a look at the farmer and his involvement in politics. Other members on the conference program will be Paul F. Elward, Democratic State Representative from Chicago; James H. Donnewald, Democratic State Senator from Greese; and William R. Higgins, Mt. Carmel, Wabash County clerk.

To Study Contracts
Contract marketing and collective bargaining by farmers will be discussed at the opening conference, Dr. Emerson Babb, agricultural economics professor at Purdue University, will discuss the possibilities and limitations of advanced delivery contracts and bargaining by farmers. Gray Daly, general manager, Interstate Producers Livestock association, will explain how his cooperative is currently using contracts with farmers in marketing their livestock. Melvin K. Hayenga, manager of Quality Vegetable Growers association, will review the use of contracts in marketing vegetables by QVGA. Farm record keeping program in Illinois will be reviewed at the same conference by Dale E. Butz, IAA secretary of marketing.

One-year terms expire for William J. Kuhfuss, Mackinaw, IAA president since 1958; and Harold E. Hartley, Centralia, vice president.

Beef Feeders Request Government Revise Quotas On Imports

WASHINGTON — "Imports of meat and meat products have a depressing impact on our domestic markets and tend to defeat the efforts of the National Livestock Feeders association to improve the financial climate for livestock operators," charged NLFA Executive Don F. Magdanz in an appearance before the Senate Finance committee.

The occasion was the public hearings being held pertaining to import quota legislation.

The National Livestock Feeders association is working for approval of S.1588, a legislative measure which would revise the present law governing meat imports by establishing quotas in the law and reducing meat imports by some 20% as well as putting quotas on a quarterly basis.

The Senate committee heard about several NFLA sponsored programs aimed at bringing meat supplies more in line with demand at more favorable prices for livestock operators.

Hurts Two Ways

Magdanz said the adverse effect of imported meats on livestock prices is two-pronged:

1. The imports add to total supply;

2. They are sold in our markets at prices lower than prices being paid for our domestic meats of like quality.

"Arguments that imports do not affect fed beef prices, and thus fed cattle prices, because they largely go into manufactured products, are ridiculous and without foundation," Magdanz told the Senators.

He continued, "All meat products compete with one another to varying degrees, regardless of the form in which they are marketed. Imported beef and veal can also have adverse effects on pork and lamb prices, as well as prices of fed beef, because of increased total supply."

The NFLA is currently engaged in some intense programs and campaigns aimed at stabilizing supplies of fed livestock, marketing this livestock in an orderly pattern, holding down average slaughter weights, and maintaining production at a level that will command better livestock prices.

Magdanz told the Senate committee, "All these are in the nature of our own self-help programs in a voluntary attempt to improve the income and return of the livestock industry, and imports definitely defeat these efforts."

AFBF Delegates To Hear Premier Of Saskatchewan

CHICAGO — W. Ross Thatcher, recently reelected premier of the Canadian province of Saskatchewan, will be one of the principal speakers at the 49th annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Dec. 10-14, in Chicago. Premier Thatcher, who was first elected to his post in 1964, is credited with changing the economic climate of Saskatchewan and encouraging the development of private enterprise. He is scheduled to address the convention's opening general session in the Hilton Hotel on Monday, Dec. 11.

More than 5,000 farm and ranch members from 49 states and Puerto Rico are expected to attend the convention of the largest general farm organization in the U.S. with a membership of 1,700,000 member families.

Among the key issues expected to be discussed and acted upon by the voting delegates of the member State Farm Bureaus are federal budget and fiscal policies, international trade, farm program legislation and farm marketing.

The convention is the culmination of a policy development process which starts in the local communities and funnels recommendations on national issues through some 2,700 county units and 50 state units to the convention resolutions committee and the voting delegates.

Traditional vesper services will open the convention at 3 p.m., Sunday, December 10.

Charles B. Shuman, Sullivan, Ill., president of the Federation, will give his annual address on Monday morning.

Illinois Farm OUTLOOK

RECORD CROPS OF CORN AND SOYBEANS

Most of the nation's crops reached maturity without suffering damage from drought or frost. The USDA Crop Report for October showed little change from that for September.

Severe drought persisted and intensified in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio. On the other hand, the drought in central and southern Texas was relieved by heavy rains.

As of the first of October, the national average condition of pastures was rated at 79. That was 1 percentage point better than a year before, and 2 points better than the 5-year 1961-65 average.

CORN. The corn crop was estimated at 4,717 million bushels. This amount is 1 percent more than the forecast made on Sept. 1, and it is 15 percent more than the 1966 crop.

About half of the increase in corn production this year will come from more acres. Acreage is up about 8 percent, largely because of a loosening of acreage restrictions. The national average yield per acre is estimated to be up less than 7 percent from a year ago.

The average yield per acre is estimated at 76.9 bushels, nearly 5 bushels more than last year. This is, of course, a new record. It tops the 1965 record by 3 bushels.

Illinois has an exceptionally good crop. The Illinois-USDA Crop Reporting Service gives our farmers credit for 103 bushels of corn per acre. No other state has ever had an average over 100 bushels. The best previous average for Illinois was 94 bushels, two years ago.

The Illinois corn crop is now estimated at 1,140 million bushels. This is the first billion-bushel crop of any kind ever to be purchased by any state. The previous record was set by Illinois farmers two years ago, when they produced 919 million bushels. The crop that they produced last year was estimated at 835 million bushels.

SUPPLY, USE, AND EXPORTS. The carryover of old corn on October 1 was somewhere around 900 million bushels. This amount plus the new crop makes a total of about 5,600 million bushels.

We believe that use and exports will be between 4,200 and 4,400 million bushels. If so, the carryover next October would be 1,200 million to 1,400 million. Neither farmers nor grain dealers will want to own such a large amount. Under these conditions, prices usually go below the price support level, so that farmers put large amounts under loan.

SOYBEANS. The October estimate of the soybean crop is 994 million bushels. This is down 1 percent from the September forecast, and is 1/2 percent less than the forecast made August 1. The crop is 7 percent more than the previous record set a year ago.

The carryover of old beans was about 91 million bushels, so the total supply is around 1,085 million bushels. Use and exports may total approximately 925 million bushels. Thus, the carryover next fall could exceed 150 million bushels.

Cite Group Pressures As Stumbling Blocks To Better Farming

Tradition, social pressures and personal relationships — not fatalistic beliefs and negative attitudes — often prevent peasants in developing countries from adopting new agricultural practices.

This observation was voiced by Irvin T. Sanders, vice president of Education and World Affairs, at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture's Centennial Symposium on "The Land-Grant University and World Food Needs."

Education and World Affairs is a nonprofit corporation established by the Ford Foundation.

"Fatalism is part of the religious orientation of many peasant groups," Sanders pointed out.

For example, blind acceptance of God's or Allah's intent often becomes both a rationalization for human ineptitude and an excuse for not embracing change.

But fatalism doesn't necessarily prevent peasants from adopting new farming ideas.

"The stereotype often presented of this tiller of the soil is one of half-truth and sometimes downright misrepresentation," Sanders emphasized.

"It's incorrect for any outsider who is trying to introduce greater agricultural productivity to blame non-cooperation solely on the peasant's belief in fatalism. Most peasants are not that stupid," the eminent sociologist continued.

"It's the Will"

Fate only provides convenient explanations for unsolved problems such as poor crops.

Some of the peasant's negative attitudes are based on observed failures of innovations introduced by people from outside his community. These attitudes are based not on blind fatalism, but on reasonable interpretation of actual experience.

Sanders discussed how social and family relationships prevent or limit changes in agricultural productivity.

Introducing new farming ideas disrupts the authoritative role of family and kin as sources of farming knowledge. For example, without loss of pride or prestige the father must admit that outsiders and other family members can be sources of farming information.

"Some argue that education and community development programs must precede and accompany land reform measures if the new owners are to be even as productive as the landlords before them," he pointed out.

More Zeal For Owner
Another argument holds that land redistribution, transferring ownership from landlords to tenants, would increase agricultural output because each producer would then work harder when he owned the land.

But after land reform in some countries, the former landlord class has managed to retain social control over the rural population. This situation results because only former landlords are available to represent the peasants in government.

Reform represents only a crack in the traditional social structure, opening up opportunities for a new type of leadership to develop.

Informal groups, tavern and teahouse cliques, neighborhoods and the traditional women's working bees play an important part in forming public opinion among peasants.

Sanders said that many extension agents in developing countries act as if they don't realize that informal groups structure both patterns of communication and the adoption of farm practices.

One—And The Group
He asserted that the peasant's way of life must change if increased agricultural output and improved nutrition are to occur. But the peasant as the target of change, he said, "is not the lonely individual who makes decisions in solitude. His decisions grow out of and reflect his group experience."

In cautioning against generalizations about peasant groups, he noted, "Though we are struck by how much they have in common, it will probably be some important difference — rather than similarities — which will be crucial in a particular program of change."

"The peasant and his traditions are not the only obstacles to change. The innovative peasant is actually an agent of change."

Native program specialists and visiting experts who are trying to improve the peasant's way of life and his agricultural productivity are also posing obstacles to change.

These specialists may raise false hopes or make promises that are not fulfilled. Others may conceive of their role as dictating changes instead of educating peasants to accept progressive innovations.

Speaking of the "challenge and opportunity" in helping to increase food production, Sanders concluded on this optimistic note: "The process of change can become less intractable if we deal more intelligently with the human obstacles."

AFBF Delegates To Hear Premier Of Saskatchewan

CHICAGO — W. Ross Thatcher, recently reelected premier of the Canadian province of Saskatchewan, will be one of the principal speakers at the 49th annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Dec. 10-14, in Chicago. Premier Thatcher, who was first elected to his post in 1964, is credited with changing the economic climate of Saskatchewan and encouraging the development of private enterprise. He is scheduled to address the convention's opening general session in the Hilton Hotel on Monday, Dec. 11.

More than 5,000 farm and ranch members from 49 states and Puerto Rico are expected to attend the convention of the largest general farm organization in the U.S. with a membership of 1,700,000 member families.

Among the key issues expected to be discussed and acted upon by the voting delegates of the member State Farm Bureaus are federal budget and fiscal policies, international trade, farm program legislation and farm marketing.

The convention is the culmination of a policy development process which starts in the local communities and funnels recommendations on national issues through some 2,700 county units and 50 state units to the convention resolutions committee and the voting delegates.

Traditional vesper services will open the convention at 3 p.m., Sunday, December 10.

Charles B. Shuman, Sullivan, Ill., president of the Federation, will give his annual address on Monday morning.

Argentina, Canada and Australia are major competitors to the United States in the export of wheat.

Safety studies show that more than half of fatal farm machinery accidents involve persons under 15 or over 55.

Illinois Farm OUTLOOK

RECORD CROPS OF CORN AND SOYBEANS

Most of the nation's crops reached maturity without suffering damage from drought or frost. The USDA Crop Report for October showed little change from that for September.

Severe drought persisted and intensified in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio. On the other hand, the drought in central and southern Texas was relieved by heavy rains.

As of the first of October, the national average condition of pastures was rated at 79. That was 1 percentage point better than a year before, and 2 points better than the 5-year 1961-65 average.

CORN. The corn crop was estimated at 4,717 million bushels. This amount is 1 percent more than the forecast made on Sept. 1, and it is 15 percent more than the 1966 crop.

About half of the increase in corn production this year will come from more acres. Acreage is up about 8 percent, largely because of a loosening of acreage restrictions. The national average yield per acre is estimated to be up less than 7 percent from a year ago.

The average yield per acre is estimated at 76.9 bushels, nearly 5 bushels more than last year. This is, of course, a new record: It tops the 1965 record by 3 bushels.

Illinois has an exceptionally good crop. The Illinois-USA Crop Reporting Service gives our farmers credit for 103 bushels of corn per acre. No other state has ever had an average over 100 bushels. The best previous average for Illinois was 94 bushels, two years ago.

The Illinois corn crop is now estimated at 1,140 million bushels. This is the first billion-bushel crop of any kind ever to be purchased by any state. The previous record was set by Illinois farmers two years ago, when they produced 919 million bushels. The crop that they produced last year was estimated at 835 million bushels.

SUPPLY, USE, AND EXPORTS. The carryover of old corn on October 1 was somewhere around 900 million bushels. This amount plus the new crop makes a total of about 5,600 million bushels.

We believe that use and exports will be between 4,200 and 4,400 million bushels. If so, the carryover next October would be 1,200 million to 1,400 million. Neither farmers nor grain dealers will want to own such a large amount. Under these conditions, prices usually go below the price support level, so that farmers put large amounts under loan.

SOYBEANS. The October estimate of the soybean crop is 944 million bushels. This is down 1 percent from the September forecast, and is 1/2 a percent less than the forecast made August 1. The crop is 7 percent more than the previous record set a year ago.

The carryover of old beans was about 91 million bushels, so the total supply is around 1,085 million bushels. Use and exports may total approximately 925 million bushels. Thus, the carryover next fall could exceed 150 million bushels.

Cite Group Pressures As Stumbling Blocks To Better Farming

Tradition, social pressures and personal relationships — not fatalistic beliefs and negative attitudes — often prevent peasants in developing countries from adopting new agricultural practices.

This observation was voiced by Irvin T. Sanders, vice president of Education and World Affairs, at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture's Centennial Symposium on "The Land Grant University and World Food Needs."

Education and World Affairs is a nonprofit corporation established by the Ford Foundation.

"Fatalism is part of the religious orientation of many peasant groups," Sanders pointed out.

For example, blind acceptance of God's or Allah's intent often becomes both a rationalization for human ineptitude and an excuse for not embracing change.

But fatalism doesn't necessarily prevent peasants from adopting new farming ideas.

"The stereotype often presented of this tiller of the soil is one of half-truth and sometimes downright misrepresentation," Sanders emphasized.

"It's incorrect for any outsider who is trying to introduce greater agricultural productivity to blame non-cooperation solely on the peasant's belief in fatalism. Most peasants are not that stupid," the eminent sociologist continued.

"It's the Will"

Fate only provides convenient explanations for unsolved problems such as poor crops.

Some of the peasant's negative attitudes are based on observed failures of innovations introduced by people from outside his community. These attitudes are based not on blind fatalism, but on reasonable interpretation of actual experience.

Sanders discussed how social and family relationships prevent or limit changes in agricultural productivity.

Introducing new farming ideas disrupts the authoritative role of family and kin as sources of farming knowledge. For example, without loss of pride or prestige the father must admit that outsiders and other family members can be sources of farming information.

"Some argue that education and community development programs must precede and accompany land reform measures if the new owners are to be even as productive as the landlords before them," he pointed out.

More Zeal For Owner

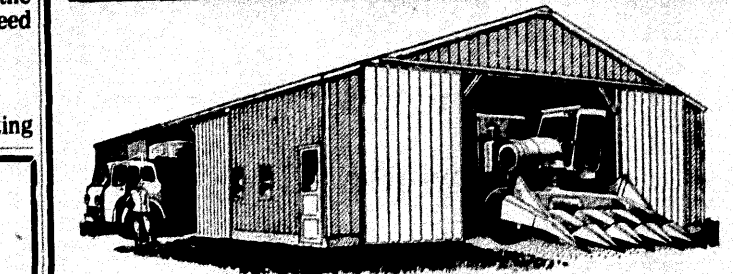

Another argument holds that land redistribution, transferring ownership from landlords to tenants, would increase agricultural output because each producer would then work harder when he owned the land.

But after land reform in some countries, the former landlord class has managed to retain social control over the rural population. This situation results because only former landlords are available to represent the peasants in government.

Reform represents only a crack in the traditional social structure, opening up oppor-

Chautauqua Refuge Master Plan To Exclude Quiver Beach Area

BEARDSTOWN — The long-awaited Master Development Plan for Chautauqua National Wildlife Refuge near Havana has been completed and is expected to placate most of the land owners in the Quiver Creek area since there is no immediate intention to secure their holdings for the project.

Of great interest to these property owners, who had been vehement in their objections, will be the declaration by the government that "all development outlined in the plan involves only lands and waters within the present boundaries of the refuge."

The Master Plan is summarized in a booklet issued by the Department of Interior describing the basic problems, analyzing many development proposals and presenting a scheme for the future.

Richard E. Toltzmann, refuge manager, said that the plan probably will not satisfy everyone, but Attorney Kenneth Lemmer of Havana, who has been outspoken in his objections because it involved sale of land owned by his wife, declared September 30 that he is pleased with the situation as it now exists.

No Further Protest

"If I understand the Master Plan," he declared, "all the objections harbored by landowners on Quiver Creek would be eliminated and we would have no further protest."

Among the owners of property involved are Eugene L. McHarry, Mrs. Kenneth Lemmer, A. V. Martens, Lou Rudolph,

Oren Sandman and others. The McHarry property is the largest and Mr. McHarry and his son have probably been the most emphatic in their opposition to the government proposals, although no firm offer to purchase ever was made.

Goal of the wildlife refuge system is to further the national program of fish and wildlife conservation by restoring, developing and managing the environment for these wild creatures.

The Interior Department first became interested in Chautauqua Wildlife Refuge in 1936 and reports it encompasses 4,487 acres of land and water with the 3,700 acre Lake Chautauqua as the dominant feature.

Organized In 1916

The Chautauqua Drainage and Levee district was organized in 1916 and was active until 1926 when the protecting levees broke and the pumping station was badly damaged. The district was abandoned and for 10 years the area was flooded, becoming known as Chautauqua Lake where waterfowl and fish abounded.

When the government acquired the land in 1936, breaks in levees were repaired and water control structures were built so that a rest area for waterfowl was established in this protected space.

Despite problems in maintenance, Chautauqua Refuge became widely-known as a place for one of the nation's greatest concentrations of wild ducks. In 1944 1 1/2 million ducks were estimated to be resting on the lake. Since then the duck population has dwindled to an estimated 60,000 mallards in 1964.

The decline in duck population has been attributed to the lack of aquatic food, which has been largely the result of siltation and pollution.

Rest Area For Geese

Geese are seen in lesser numbers since they use the area for rest only, and feed as far as 20 miles from the refuge. As many as 10,000 snow and blue geese have been estimated and there are sometimes as many as 1,000 Canada geese on the lake. Hunting pressure on private lands, however, generally drives these birds onward in a short time.

Muskrat, mink, beaver, red fox and other fur bearers also are found and there are Bob White quail and ring neck pheasant; fish species are abundant including bluegill, crappie, yellow and white bass and channel catfish.

It is the intent of the department to develop the area for recreation, including fishing and public waterfowl hunting, nature study and picnicking.

Among the problems facing the Department of Interior is the need to provide waterfowl food. Since there is no land good for agriculture in the immediate area, there is a necessity for upland agriculture crops to supplement the aquatic food; corn and green browse are mentioned as essential. Additional land also is needed for recreational development.

Excluded From Plan

Land adjacent to the southeast corner of the refuge, specifically Quiver Creek, was inspected and considered for acquisition. The decision was made against acquiring additional land, hence all development outlined in the Master Plan involves only lands and waters within the present boundaries of the refuge.

However, it is pointed out in the Department of Interior report that acquisition of additional recreational land and a buffer zone around the headquarters area should be considered at a later date.

"Acquisition of upland agricultural lands for waterfowl feeding should be postponed indefinitely," the report states.

The basic problems for future development include flooding which has been a "center of controversy."

Most effective techniques for managing a flood plain lake for the production of duck food is to lower levels sufficiently by July 1 to expose at least 30 percent of the area in mud flats to allow moist-soil food plants to develop. It is then reflooded in the fall to make plantlife available to wild fowl. This practice was initiated at Chautauqua in 1959. Efforts to enhance sport fishing by adjusting the water management program have been made but never satisfied either fishing interests or waterfowl management objectives.

Pollution Problem

Siltation and pollution problems also call for control measures.

Interior believes the most important development feature for wildlife would be a managed pool area in the northern end of Lake Chautauqua to provide a system of moist-soil waterfowl food units.

The pool would be managed annually on a basis of a complete drawdown in late June and early July, remaining almost dry until fall during which time the plant food could develop. Gradual flooding would occur in the fall to allow maximum use by ducks and geese. The facilities would make possible development and restoration of the lake as a feeding ground and rest area for fall populations of 200,000 ducks and 11,000 geese, it is maintained.

The portion of the lake not in the controlled pool would be managed as a waterfowl rest and brood area with sport fishing as a summer and spring facility. Existing dikes will be left.

Recreation Plans

Development for recreation requires construction, which would center around the lake. There would be an observation tower, photography blinds and nature trails.

Outside the controlled pool there will also be boat launching ramps, concession buildings and services for boat rentals, bait purchase, and public toilets. A picnic area is planned.

Development costs are estimated at $1,238,800 for water facilities, buildings, roads and trails, fencing and recreation. It is estimated $60,000 annually would be spent by visitors and $170,000 annually by hunters and fishermen. A total annual return on the investment is placed at $231,000.

Chautauqua Refuge Master Plan To Exclude Quiver Beach Area

BEARDSTOWN — The long-awaited Master Development Plan for Chautauqua National Wildlife Refuge near Havana has been completed and is expected to placate most of the land owners in the Quiver Creek area since there is no immediate intention to secure their holdings for the project.

Of great interest to these property owners, who had been vehement in their objections, will be the declaration by the government that "all development outlined in the plan involves only lands and waters within the present boundaries of the refuge."

The Master Plan is summarized in a booklet issued by the Department of Interior describing the basic problems, analyzing many development proposals and presenting a scheme for the future.

Richard E. Toltzmann, refuge manager, said that the plan probably will not satisfy everyone, but Attorney Kenneth Lemmer of Havana, who has been outspoken in his objections because it involved sale of land owned by his wife, declared September 30 that he is pleased with the situation as it now exists.

No Further Protest

"If I understand the Master Plan," he declared, "all the objections harbored by landowners on Quiver Creek would be eliminated and we would have no further protest."

Among the owners of property involved are Eugene L. McHarry, Mrs. Kenneth Lemmer, A. V. Martens, Lou Rudolph,

Oren Sandman and others. The McHarry property is the largest and Mr. McHarry and his son have probably been the most emphatic in their opposition to the government proposals, although no firm offer to purchase ever was made.

Goal of the wildlife refuge system is to further the national program of fish and wildlife conservation by restoring, developing and managing the environment for these wild creatures.

The Interior Department first became interested in Chautauqua Wildlife Refuge in 1936 and reports it encompasses 4,487 acres of land and water with the 3,700 acre Lake Chautauqua as the dominant feature.

Organized In 1916

The Chautauqua Drainage and Levee district was organized in 1916 and was active until 1926 when the protecting levees broke and the pumping station was badly damaged. The district was abandoned and for 10 years the area was flooded, becoming known as Chautauqua Lake where waterfowl and fish abounded.

When the government acquired the land in 1936, breaks in levees were repaired and water control structures were built so that a rest area for waterfowl was established in this protected space.

Despite problems in maintenance, Chautauqua Refuge became widely known as a place for one of the nation's greatest concentrations of wild ducks. In 1944 1 1/2 million ducks were estimated to be resting on the lake. Since then the duck population has dwindled to an estimated 60,000 mallards in 1964.

The decline in duck population has been attributed to the lack of aquatic food, which has been largely the result of siltation and pollution.

Rest Area For Geese

Geese are seen in lesser numbers since they use the area for rest only, and feed as far as 20 miles from the refuge. As many as 10,000 snow and blue geese have been estimated and there are sometimes as many as 1,000 Canada geese on the lake. Hunting pressure on private lands, however, generally drives these birds onward in a short time.

Muskrat, mink, beaver, red fox and other fur bearers also are found and there are Bob White quail and ring neck pheasant; fish species are abundant including bluegill, crappie, yellow and white bass and channel catfish.

It is the intent of the department to develop the area for recreation, including fishing and public waterfowl hunting, nature study and picnicking.

Elm Killer Marches on

New weapons are being brought into the fight to save America's elms from Dutch elm disease, but so far the tree killer continues to take its relentless annual toll. Beautiful shaded streets are laid bare as larvae of the elm bark beetle bore through the trees, leaving short, dark veins like those shown above, spreading a fungus that kills them like cancer. Eventual removal of the tree by professionals is required as it becomes a skeleton of leafless, dead limbs. Elms in 30 eastern and midwestern states now have the disease.

TREE LOVERS' HOPES now rest on two developments in fighting Dutch elm disease. One is the crossing of American elms with a Siberian variety as shown above left, hoping to pass along the latter's resistance to the disease. A more direct ally is the tiny larva of a European wasp which feeds only on the elm bark beetle, as one is doing, bottom right. One million of the wasps are being released in Michigan forests to see if they can control the tree-killing beetle.

3,000 Hogs Processed In Single Day

BEARDSTOWN—A record kill of 3,000 hogs in one day was attained at the new Oscar Mayer plant last week.

First day for achievement of this record was Wednesday and it was indicated that the mark will henceforth be about the average in the big plant.

Peter Hartung, plant manager, said that employment has now reached the 400 mark, but that additional employees are being hired continually.

Employees have been hired from all surrounding communities including Chandlerville, Chapin, Bluffs, Meredosia, Mt. Sterling, Astoria, Ashland, Jacksonville and other towns.

"We still have to add about 100 employees and nothing would please me more than to see the work go to mature Beardstown residents" said Hartung. "They can still get in on the ground floor and earn seniority in this growing local place of employment."

Halloween Party
Members of the Jaycees here say they expect at least 500 children to participate in their annual Halloween party October 31.

The big event starts at 7:30 p.m. on the city square. Various contests will be sponsored and Don Chipman will be the master of ceremonies.

Business — Market Wrapup

SECRETARY OF STATE Paul Powell, center, and Mr. and Mrs. August Meyer, Champaign, view a portrait of George Washington that was unveiled in the Capitol Monday. The portrait was loaned to Secretary Powell as Custodian of the State Capitol, by Mr. and Mrs. Meyer so that the many visitors to the Capitol from all parts of the world may enjoy it.

It is a unique work done around 1890 by the renowned Finnish artist, Georg Sigurd Wetterhoff-Aspen, in the hope that it would inspire the Finns to revolt against the Russians.

Mr. Powell said that it is also unique in that it is the only picture of George Washington presently on public display in the Capitol.

28 B. C. Gamble Scholarships Announced Here

Twenty-eight B. C. Gamble Scholarship awards will be presented at the end of the current school year according to Bertin C. Gamble, chairman of the board of Gamble-Skogmo, Inc., which operates the Tempo store in Jacksonville.

This year's 28 awards will bring the total number of winners to 268, sharing over $94,000 in awards since the inception of the plan in 1958-59. The current scholarships, each worth $350, will go to 28 high school seniors graduating in June, 1968. Scholarship winners may use the funds for any course of study at any accredited college or university.

All who qualify for the awards must demonstrate special ability in business, either through high school programs or part-time jobs; as well as acceptable scholastic aptitude during their senior year. Mr. Gamble emphasized in announcing the scholarship program for the eighth consecutive year.

Roger Spaulding from Jacksonville was the winner for 1967 and he is now attending University of Iowa.

Lynn Zech, manager of the local Tempo store emphasized that absolutely no purchase or registration is necessary to qualify for the award.

Selection of the high school senior to win each scholarship will be made by a committee consisting of school faculty members. The families of employees of Gamble-Skogmo, its subsidiaries, its suppliers or its advertising agency are not eligible.

Wall Street Looks To 'Next Week' For Sharp Rise Or Fall

By ED MORSE
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street looked to next week for a test of where the market will head on its next sharp move—up or down.

After five straight weeks of declining prices, some analysts believed the market was trying to form a bottom from which to rally.

In the latest week, the Dow Jones industrial average fell another 8.55 points to 888.18. This brought it close to the 885 line which is regarded by most as the bottom of the long-term uptrend line. If this is broken through, then the uptrend is violated and a new downtrend is started — so the theorists believe.

All bets are off in the event of some very important piece of news which could change the psychology of the stock market, they agree.

In the week just ended, 983 issues fell and 525 rose of the 1,628 traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Volume for the week was 50,927,432 shares compared with 51,007,580 the previous week.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks last week dropped 3.7 to 321.0.

The market weathered a heavy gust of selling early Monday as it reacted to news the Federal Reserve Board had proposed new regulations for the tightening of credit, in effect extending the current 70 per cent margin requirements to unregulated lenders and affecting particularly convertible bonds.

On Tuesday, the market settled sharply lower. On this day the Dow industrials violated their Aug. 30 closing low of 893.72, flashing what some technicians believe was a "bear signal."

Thursday the over-all market enjoyed its first rise in nine sessions. On Friday, the rally sputtered out early and the list took another loss.

The speculative atmosphere was heated up considerably Thursday by record-breaking volume of 8.29 million shares on the American Stock Exchange where very low-priced issues were bought heavily. The volume topped the previous record of 7.1 million shares set on Oct. 29, 1929.

The Amex volume Friday was 7.24 million, second greatest in its history, and many of the low-priced stocks were dumped in heavy trading.

A Treasury offer to pay the highest interest rate on a government security in 46 years resulted in a price decline in some bonds this past week.

The treasury's offer of $1.5 billion of 5 1/2 per cent notes was accompanied by an offer of $10.7 billion of 15 month notes at 5 1/2 per cent interest.

Money raised by the combined sales would be used to pay off $10.2 billion in maturing securities with the remainder to be used to meet the treasury's needs.

Long term governments — those over 20 years — showed "modest net price gains for the first time in seven weeks," according to a Wall Street investment firm.

Prices for municipals made their first noticeable advance since early August. The Securities and Exchange Commission reported that U.S. corporations offered publicly during this year's third quarter a record $4.6 billion of debt securities.

BEARDSTOWN—A record kill of 3,000 hogs in one day was attained at the new Oscar Mayer plant last week.

First day for achievement of this record was Wednesday and it was indicated that the mark will henceforth be about the average in the big plant.

Peter Hartung, plant manager, said that employment has now reached the 400 mark, but that additional employees are being hired continually.

Employees have been hired from all surrounding communities including Chandlersville, Chapin, Bluffs, Meredosia, Mt. Sterling, Astoria, Ashland, Jacksonville and other towns.

"We still have to add about 100 employees and nothing would please me more than to see the work go to mature Beardstown residents," said Hartung. "They can still get in on the ground floor and earn seniority in this growing local place of employment."

Halloween Party Members of the Jaycees here say they expect at least 500 children to participate in their annual Halloween party October 31.

The big event starts at 7:30 p.m. on the city square.

Various contests will be sponsored and Don Chipman will be the master of ceremonies.

Business — Market Wrapup

SECRETARY OF STATE Paul Powell, center, and Mr. and Mrs. August Meyer, Champaign, view a portrait of George Washington that was unveiled in the Capitol Monday. The portrait was loaned to Secretary Powell as Custodian of the State Capitol, by Mr. and Mrs. Meyer so that the many visitors to the Capitol from all parts of the world may enjoy it.

It is a unique work done around 1890 by the renowned Finnish artist, Georg Sigurd Wetterhoff-Aspen, in the hope that it would inspire the Finns to revolt against the Russians.

Mr. Powell said that it is also unique in that it is the only picture of George Washington presently on public display in the Capitol.

Travel Talk

by Thelma Bacon

No matter what you pack, choose light, roomy luggage, rugged enough to withstand rough handling.

Today's fabulous fabrics provide a traveling light wardrobe. But, most women still take pounds of bottles and jars of beauty aids. A survey shows many of these could be replaced by one bottle of baby oil. With it, you eliminate from your luggage a bath oil, hair conditioner, make-up remover, and special lotion.

Most overseas airlines allow First Class passengers 66 pounds of luggage. Coach passengers are allowed 44 pounds. The only articles not weighed are your purse, camera and coat, provided they are carried aboard.

Airlines travelers will be able to claim their checked luggage within minutes after arrival.

Ship passengers should mark luggage not needed during the crossing, "Hold". Pieces which will be needed should be marked, "Wanted", and will be placed in your cabin.

WATCH NEXT WEEK FOR "PACKING FOR YOUR TRIP". Where is the COMPLETE travel guide service? At THRIFT TRAVEL SERVICE. We offer complete travel service—tickets, reservations, tours, theatre tickets, reservations for shows, sporting events and operas. Travel Talk

by Thelma Bacon

No matter what you pack, choose light, roomy luggage, rugged enough to withstand rough handling.

Today's fabulous fabrics provide a traveling light wardrobe. But, most women still take pounds of bottles and jars of beauty aids. A survey shows many of these could be replaced by one bottle of baby oil. With it, you eliminate from your luggage a bath oil, hair conditioner, make-up remover, and special lotion.

Most overseas airlines allow First Class passengers 66 pounds of luggage. Coach passengers are allowed 44 pounds. The only articles not weighed are your purse, camera and coat, provided they are carried aboard.

Airlines travelers will be able to claim their checked luggage within minutes after arrival. Ship passengers should mark luggage not needed during the crossing, "Hold". Pieces which will be needed should be marked, "Wanted", and will be placed in your cabin.

WATCH NEXT WEEK FOR "PACKING FOR YOUR TRIP". Where is the COMPLETE travel guide service? At THRIFT TRAVEL SERVICE. We offer complete travel service—tickets, reservations, tours, theatre tickets, reservations for shows, sporting events and operas. Two Found Dead In Greenville VFW Saturday

GREENVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Two men apparently overcome by carbon monoxide were found dead Saturday in the Greenville VFW hall and four other persons were hospitalized.

Coroner Robert Bauer of Bond County identified the dead as Harvey Kious, 51, of Mulberry Grove, and George Allen, 40, of rural Greenville.

Hospitalized were Raymond Kleinick, commander of the Greenville VFW post; Jim Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Potts Sr., all of Greenville.

They were reported responding to treatment at Ullaut Memorial Hospital in Greenville.

Bauer said he was investigating, but it appeared a plugged heater flue caused carbon monoxide fumes to fill the building.

Mr. and Mrs. Potts left the hall to seek medical treatment when the woman became ill early Saturday, Bauer said. The coroner said the husband later collapsed.

Creek Rises, Traps Family On Sunday Drive

BEARDSTOWN — Ben Goldsmith, a tax expert for the state of Illinois and three members of his family are still thanking their lucky stars at their home here following a hectic experience near Louisiana, Mo. last Sunday.

Goldsmith said he was grateful that the result of the experience was only the ruin of his 1963 car — there could very well have been loss of life, he stated.

The Goldsmiths and others in the family — two carloads — went to the home of relatives on a farm near Louisiana, the trip involving the crossing of a usually "dry bed" creek. On the drive to the farm the cars had no trouble getting through the water, but a four-inch rain put the creek at "violent flood stage" just before the Goldsmiths tried a crossing.

The car stalled in the creek, trapping the four occupants.

Goldsmith recited a series of incidents involving the efforts of a neighbor with a tractor and another man with a jeep to "rescue" the car and its occupants, and it was three hours before this was accomplished.

A swift current in the steadily rising creek made the experience doubly dangerous. After the occupants had been put ashore another long effort was expended in getting the car out, but Goldsmith said it was a "total loss" and has been replaced by his insurance company.

"We were mighty lucky" announced Ben.

Hundreds Respond To Call For Colors

Central Illinois residents by the hundreds are responding to the Jacksonville Journal Courier's public service campaign to encourage greater display of the American flag as an expression of faith and patriotism.

So tremendous has been the response of Journal Courier readers to the offer of a special flag kit at cost that there might be small delays before all requests are filled.

One complete shipment of flags has been exhausted by the demand, and another is on order and expected to arrive at the newspaper Monday.

Anyone interested in acquiring the flag kit should not be discouraged. Persons desiring a kit should leave their name at the newspaper offices at 235 West State Street, and delivery will be assured.

November 11 is Veterans Day, and in the interest of promoting "a little old fashioned" patriotism, the Jacksonville Journal and Courier is offering the flag kit to its readers at cost.

The kit contains a 3-by-5-foot, 50-star flag of colorfast cotton; a 6-foot, two-piece jointed metal staff, with eagle-top decoration; a halyard; a heavy metal bracket, with screws for permanent mounting; and a folder explaining flag display and etiquette.

All come in a corrugated cardboard carton for easy handling.

Both cars left the scene under their own power.

GOP Asks Extended Session On War Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — A call for Congress to be in session until it deals with the question of war policy in Vietnam was sounded today by three House members.

The suggestion from Reps. Paul Findley, R-Ill., F. Bradford Morse, R-Mass., and William L. Hungate, D-Mo., comes at a time congressional leaders are predicting that with a little luck the 1967 session could wind up around Thanksgiving Day.

"Our men in Vietnam cannot adjourn the war," Findley said, "and I do not think the Congress should adjourn until it has dealt squarely with the question of war policy."

The 3 are among 57 House sponsors of a resolution calling for congressional hearings to determine if "further legislative action is warranted in regard to Southeast Asia policy."

Findley contended there are many ideas on how to resolve the Vietnam conflict. In fact, he said, he has found some 26 separate alternatives to present policy or parts of it, most of which originated in Congress.

"To the best of my knowledge, each is entirely different from anything tried by the administration," Findley said. "None corresponds directly to any of the 28 separate peace plans which the secretary of state says the United States has supported."

These ideas, Findley said, could form a starting point for a congressional debate on what to do about Vietnam.

In the Senate, the Foreign Relations Committee started hearings last week on a resolution sponsored by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., under which Congress would urge the President to seek an emergency meeting of the U.N. Security Council to begin efforts to end the Vietnam war.

His proposal would have the United States agree in advance to accept any council directives, such as an order to halt bombing of North Vietnam. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and more than 50 other senators have sponsored another resolution urging U.N. action—but it contains no suggestion for advance agreement to any directives.

Morse has said the Mansfield alternative is acceptable to him.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton called anew meanwhile for an end to U.S. search and destroy missions in Vietnam, saying they "have been frightful in their casualty cost."

Specht Reviews Concert By National Sinfonia

Without histrionics or emotionalism, the National Sinfonia presented a well planned program of four works, Sunday evening in MacMurray's Annie Mermer Chapel.

The performance was grounded in solid musicianship and played with zest, precision, and an excellent sense of climax. Boris Brott, the group's 23-year old conductor, has an unusually fine grasp of the long view of music, where it is going, and the most effective way to get there.

Only the slow movements suffered. They seemed to this reviewer to lack warmth, plasticity—a sustained, singing expression that is more vocal than instrumental. Conductor Brott's past work has all been orchestral. Perhaps a stint as a choir director, or member, would give this added dimension. Perhaps it is only a matter of maturity.

The orchestra's background is of some interest. They come from England and are ending a month-long tour. Their conductor brings to his work, experience as an assistant in London to the renowned Pierre Monteux. Perhaps the Music Association will include such notes in future programs, especially for the benefit of the students who make up a large portion of the audience. We hope also that they will be consistent in the listing of a work's movement: horizontally or vertically, but not both, please.

The concert opened with J. S. Bach's second Suite. The flute part was brilliantly played by David Haslam on a wooden flute—much more common in England, we were told, than here. Also participating was the harpsichord, a forerunner of the piano, adding its tinkling vitality to a vigorous performance.

The next work was appropriate to an English group, for Benjamin Britten is doubtless England's leading composer. His "Simple Symphony" is an exhilarating early work, long a favorite of this writer. Brott brought forth a pizzicato or rare delicacy and charm, probably the best we have ever heard.

After intermission the strings played Five Pieces from Hindemith's Op. 44. Finally, the full company of 28 performed with great verve and uncanny precision Haydn's Symphony 88. Included was the harpsichord again, contributing immensely to the buoyant joy of the finale. There was no attempt to "classicize" Haydn. He emerged as he was, the true predecessor of Beethoven, dynamic and stirring. This is right. This is the
